ARTILLERY BATTLE RAGES FOR LENINGRAD

NAZIS REPORT CITY GETTING DIRECT FIRE

Russians Claim Recapture Of Four Villages In Counter-Attacks

PLANES VISIT BERLIN

Japan Moves To Place National Transportation On Wartime Footing

(By Associated Press)

A roaring artillery battle for Leningrad, with the German command reporting the city under direct fire and the Russians claiming recapture of four outlying villages in counter-attacks, highlighted the gigantic struggle on the Soviet front today.

The Germans, who previously have claimed to be within 20 miles of Leningrad, easy range for the biggest cannon, gave no details about action on any of the widespread fighting fronts.

The Russians, acknowledging that the hot pace of the life-or-death battle for that city of 3,000,000 was increasing, claimed recapture of four villages and destruction of a heavy gun battery.

Russian bombing planes stabbed at Berlin during the night but a German communique said the attackers had been driven off by anti-aircraft fire before reaching the city proper and reported one plane shot down.

The British reported they bombed a factory at La Pallice in German-occupied northern France during the night but mentioned no raids on Germany itself. There was little Nazi night aerial activity over Britain.

The tense situation in the Far East was kept to the fore as the Japanese cabinet moved to place national transportation and communications facilities on a wartime footing. The pro-

JONES ASSERTS LOUISIANA NOW IN BEST STATUS

Defense Projects Said To Have Brought State New Prosperity

RUSTON, La., Sept. 5.—(Special)—That Louisiana economically is better off than ever before, largely because of defense projects brought to this state, was emphasized by Governor Sam H. Jones Thursday night at a dinner in the Louisiana Tech dining hall sponsored jointly by Ruston Kiwanians, Lions and chamber of commerce leaders.

"Our four military cantonments," the governor said, "give Louisiana more of such units per capita than any other state. Just now an area in north Louisiana as large as Norway is being used in army maneuvers.

"In the past 12 months we have brought to this state $460,000,000 in national defense activities, more money for industries than came to the state in the preceding 10 years," Jones declared. "Our banks report that they have on deposit $66,000,000 more than when I went into office in May, 1940. We have given jobs to 60,000 persons who did not have jobs at the time this administration began.

"I have been criticized a great deal by some persons," the governor said, "because I have been taking so many trips to various parts of the country. I made those visits in the interest of obtaining these national defense pro-

Fair Enough by WESTBROOK PEGLER

In all the comment that I have seen, both legislative and editorial, on the case of the martyrized mutineer of Fort Bragg, not one word reproached the disgusting young man, himself, who spat in the mess hall and littered the floor near his bunk and, as a final offense, defiantly refused to obey the officers who had not merely permission but positive orders in the form of military laws, from the United States congress, to maintain sanitary conditions and enforce their lawful commands. No other case in the military history of the country has aroused such motherly sentimentalism and the war department, choked up with political alarm at the bark of one clamorous congressman, promptly commuted the sentence in a tone of voice which amounted to a plain repudiation of the officers involved.

That was bad because the occasion invited a demonstration of faith in those men who hold commissioned rank in the army and recognition of the fact that they, too, to the number of many thousands, are sacrificing their private careers and their home life to serve with troops in training and, if necessary, to fight. If an officer is unfit to hold his commission he should be eliminated but it is dangerous to encourage a belief that the commands of officers are subject to discount or appeal or that the American officer is a fool, a fop or a tyrant. Once that belief is conveyed to the enlisted soldiers they will lose confidence in their officers and those who hold commissions themselves will look for a way out of the service.

American officers are American soldiers and citizens like the troops they command and they certainly must be on the average much better soldiers than the men in the ranks. The very fact that they have earned commissions bespeaks some study and some previous service as volunteer patriots. To humiliate them and to uphold and commiserate a deliberately filthy and disobedient subordinate is to injure the army as a whole body, not just the individuals who, by a freak of publicity, are thrown into undesired prominence.

After all, this Private John Habinyak, who got 10 years and somewhat, quickly marked down to three years, for his dirty behavior and defiance, was not called upon to risk his life or perform any cruel task to keep out of trouble. All he had to do was conduct himself with ordinary decency and the background of the case strongly suggests that it wasn't ignorance but a conscious plan to escape military service that impelled him to initiate his troubles by spitting on the mess hall floor. No officer could tolerate that and retain the respect of the other soldiers and any officer who had flinched would have deserved a court himself.

The Washington Post editorial unintentionally put a finger on a great American fallacy when it pointed out

VOTE MACHINE CASH PROMISED

Maestri Says $200,000 Will Be Provided To Purchase Equipment

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Mayor Robert S. Maestri announced today the city would provide a $200,000 appropriation for installation of voting machines here in time for the January city election, thus apparently ending a controversy over this issue between the state and city administration.

The mayor made the announcement after a meeting of the commission council at which a motion providing for the appropriation in the budget to be written in November was approved by the council.

Previously Maestri had conferred with Joseph A. Airey, head of the Citizens Voluntary committee, which had offered to raise the money after the mayor had said the city did not have the money available. The city attorney declared that plan illegal.

Airey said today the budget announcement was "very satisfactory."

FREED OF THREE CHARGES

LONDON, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Captain Sir Herbert Paul Latham, wealthy baronet accused of improper conduct with soldiers, was acquitted by a court martial today of three of 14 charges, the court announcing that its findings on the remaining 11 charges would be announced "in due course." Captain Latham was until his arrest in July a member of the house of commons.

SMALL PLANTS TO BE USED IN DEFENSE WORK

Tiny Industrial Units To Be Enlisted In Manufacturing Drive

SINGLE BOSS URGED

Bernard M. Baruch Asserts One Administrator Urgently Needed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—(AP)—A new federal agency set out today to enlist even the smallest industrial plants in the national armament manufacturing drive, but one of President Roosevelt's principal advisers repeated his conviction that a single administrator is urgently needed for the whole defense production program.

Bernard M. Baruch, who conquered a similar military production problem 24 years ago, called not only for a single defense chief but for a blanket ceiling on prices.

Last night, a few hours after Baruch's blunt criticism, the president announced creation of a division of contract distribution in the Office of Production Management, to be headed by Floyd B. Odlum, New York financier.

A White House statement said the new agency was formed to further "a determined move on the part of the administration to help the smaller business units of the country obtain a fair share of the defense orders, and to prevent, so far as possible, dislocation of industry and unemployment of workers in plants where production has been curtailed by priorities and material shortages."

Tall, white-haired Baruch had no immediate comment on this development. But he was no more than out of the White House door after lunching with the president yesterday when he told reporters in plain words what he thought should be done to speed vital production.

Baruch saw the new seven-member

RIDLEY HIGHLY PLEASED WITH DRAFTEE ARMY

Selective Service Group Gets Strong Praise From Major-General

By T. S. Adams

SOMEWHERE IN SOUTH ARKANSAS, Sept. 5.—(AP)—The performance of the American selective service army in the field brought top praise today from a veteran of the regulars, Major-General Clarence S. Ridley.

In the current Kotmk-Almat "war" that provides a scenario for the Second army's maneuvers in South Arkansas and north Louisiana, Ridley commands the Red Kotmk forces. His army of about 50,000 has as its nucleus the Fifth division of Fort Custer, Mich., and the Sixth (his regular command) of Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

Nearly 75 per cent selectee in personnel, with many enlisted men who have been in uniform less than three months, these divisions are regarded

HE QUITS TURNING OVER IN HIS GRAVE

BRUSSELS, Occupied Belgium, Sept 5.—(AP)—For 27 years Adolphe Bioux had the dubious pleasure of turning over in his grave every day, but that's ended now.

Bioux, a wealthy man, died in 1914 and was buried in a magnificent, mechanized tomb he had constructed in his village cemetery near here. In his will he stipulated his fortune be given to a peasant, providing the peasant went to the cemetery every morning and manipulated a mechanism designed to rotate Bioux's resting place.

A nephew of Bioux, outraged by his uncle's sepulchral antics, recently had the will declared void and ordered all the mechanism removed from the tomb.

Grave diggers were forced to open the tomb to complete the removal job. Inside they found a life-size oil painting of the dead man and beside it the stuffed carcass of his favorite dog.

Bioux's will also provided a sum of money with which to pay the village band for playing peasant tunes beside the tomb on each village feast day.

Jones Says Poll Shows Majority Favors Loan

Reports 'Comfortable Margin' In Request For Borrowing Authority

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 5.—(AP—Governor Sam Jones announced today the poll of the Louisiana legislature had been successful by a comfortable margin in seeking authority for permission to borrow $540,000 for the state finance department.

Jones, arriving here by airplane from north Louisiana, announced that the poll had won legislative approval and "it is apparent the people of Louisiana do not propose to be dictated to by the mayor of New Orleans."

The sum would replace a $750,000 appropriation nullified by court interpretation for maintaining finance department fiscal machinery for paying welfare and pension payments and operating funds for certain charity hospitals, the penitentiary and other agencies.

Finance Director Martin Close had announced that without funds these

TIME-SAVING STEP ON TAX BILL WON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Administration senate forces won a time-saving concession on the $3,633,000,000 tax bill oday when Senator Downey, Democrat, Calif., agreed to withhold a $30-a-month pension movement if the leadership would promise to consider it later as a separate bill.

A major controversy before final passage of the tax legislation still remained, however. This concerned an amendment prohibiting husbands and wives in the community property states from dividing income in order to save taxes.

Such division, which usually operates to lower tax liabilities on joint incomes above $3,500, now is permitted in Louisiana, Texas, Arizona, Nevada, New Mexico, California, Idaho and Washington. The projected prohibition would add about $50,000,000 in revenue, some senators estimated.

Another controversy involves a proposed $5 annual use tax on automobiles and a sliding scale of use taxes on boats, depending on size.

After whipping through a score of important amendments in two days, the senate stalled for almost three hours late yesterday on a proposal to tax gambling slot machines at the rate of $200 annually. At the urging of Senator Bunker, Democrat, Nev., it finally voted 41 to 21 to make the tax $50. However, a parliamentary snarl developed that left hanging a motion to reconsider the vote reducing levy.

SECOND CAVALRY MENACES FLANK OF ALMAT ARMY

Crosses Ouachita River In Mass Attack Straddling State Line

WITH THE SECOND ARMY ON THE ARKANSAS-LOUISIANA BORDER, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Crossing the Ouachita river in a mass attack straddling the state line, the Second cavalry today threatened the east flank of the Almat army withdrawing into Louisiana.

Rapid-firing anti-aircraft guns of the 40th coast artillery from Fort Sheridan, Ill., brought into action for the first time, teamed with the Fort Riley, Kas., cavalry units to vault the heavy equipment safely across the river on the El Dorado-Crossett highway in Arkansas.

Held on the east shore for days, the 2nd spread out last night from a spearhead on the border and encircled a suicide company of Nebraska troopers, holding the bridge—sole solid crossing over the stream within miles.

An Almat counter-attack was broken up by ten planes in a surprise attack, the first use in the maneuvers of airplanes with horse troops.

Light cavalry swept across on footbridges on the state line, while the 3rd Cavalry brigade, only negro unit

ARMY SEEKING BILLION MORE FOR EQUIPMENT

Money Wanted For Tanks, Anti-Tank Guns, Anti-Aircraft Guns

SHIFTING OFFICERS

Leadership Will Be Turned Over To Tough, Hand-Picked Chiefs

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—(AP)—The army, intent on developing its fighting punch, put another billion dollars worth of combat equipment on its buying list today and simultaneously began shifting field leadership to young, hand-picked officers as tough physically as the men they command.

Both steps, announced by Robert P. Patterson, undersecretary of war, at his press conference yesterday, were expected to raise soldiers' morale to a higher pitch.

The extra money, Patterson said, is needed for tanks, anti-tank guns, and anti-aircraft weapons. The request will go soon to congress, which recently trimmed about $550,000,000 off a $1,300,000,000 request for additional weapons which army men said would be needed for a force of 3,000,000 men.

Patterson made it plain that neither then nor now did the department contemplate immediate creation of a 3,000,000 man force. But the tanks and artillery pieces which will require a long time to manufacture, should be ready when needed, and new plans call for a denser assignment of such weapons among the present forces.

The undersecretary told newsmen that the trend was "clearly in favor of an increased density of these weapons in any troop units."

The army's plans for revitalizing its growing forces call for replacement of about 5,000 of the older officers now on duty with troops with younger, more active men better able to withstand the rigors of modern warfare. The new age standards will affect about 500 regular army officers, roughly 20 per cent of the national guard officers now on active duty, and a small number of reserves.

The maximum age for major-generals in command of divisions was fixed at 62, brigadier-generals at 60, colonels 55, lieutenant-colonels 52, majors 47, captains 42, first lieutenants 35 and second lieutenants 30.

No age limits were fixed for lieutenant-generals or for major generals in command of army corps. Officers

PRIVATE CAIN'S FUNERAL HELD

Services Conducted For Soldier Fatally Hurt In Auto Accident

The funeral of Private Henderson Cain, 23, of Gallion, who was fatally injured early Thursday morning when the automobile in which he was riding struck a herd of horses, five miles south of Monroe on the Columbia highway, and who died later in a Monroe hospital, was held in Causey cemetery near Bastrop, Friday at 3 p.m. The Robinson Funeral home of Bastrop had charge of the arrangements. The young soldier leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Cain, of Gallion. He was a member of the 141st field artillery from Camp Shelby.

He received a severe skull fracture and multiple bruises as well as internal injuries.

A sergeant, whose identity was not immediately disclosed, also was reported seriously hurt in the accident, but he was removed from the scene of the wreck to an Alexandria hospital.

Private John Parino of Bastrop, driver of the automobile, received cuts and bruises but was not believed seriously injured.

The accident occurred about 1:30 a.m. when the three soldiers were en route from Monroe to the Alexandria area, where they were stationed during the maneuvers. The automobile in which they were riding, a Buick convertible coupe, reportedly was demolished.

NATION-WIDE STRIKE VOTED BY 19 UNIONS

Rail Walkout Cannot Become Effective For At Least 60 Days

(By Associated Press)

Nineteen railroad unions, their leaders announced today, have authorized a nation-wide strike, involving 1,250,000 workers, in an effort to enforce wage demands.

Heads of 14 non-operating unions, with a membership of approximately 900,000, set September 11 as the date for a strike. At the same time, officials of five operating groups said that 98.7 per cent of their 350,000 members had voted in favor of a walkout.

The nation's class one railroads declared in August that the wage demand aggregated $900,000,000 a year and could not be granted.

Despite the setting of next Thursday as the date for the strike by non-operating groups, an actual walk-out is far in the offing.

Under the railway labor act, no strike may be put into effect until at least 30 days after the final remedy of the act has been exhausted.

The act provides for negotiation and then for mediation. In this case, negotiations have broken down and the national railway mediation board now is holding hearings, with no official hint of the progress being made.

If the board cannot bring the parties together, it is its duty to try to get the parties to agree to arbitration. If arbitration is rejected as it legally may be, then President Roosevelt may appoint an emergency board to investigate and report the facts.

This board would be given 30 days

TROOP UNITS STILL ARE ARRIVING HERE

Three troop units arrived here Thursday night, and more are expected to move in steadily from the Arkansas area until the 140,000 men of the Second army have pushed across all of north Louisiana from the Morehouse parish line to the Texas border, according to Lieutenant-Colonel Warren H. Aldrich, commanding officer of the depot supply base for this area. The supply base officially opened Friday morning.

A hundred men of Company A, 201st quartermaster corps, during the night joined the approximately 1,200 men already bivouacked on the section of land on highway 80 outside the West Monroe city limits. About 90 members of the 11th marine wing reportedly arrived at Selman field early Friday.

Twelve additional soldiers of the postal unit also arrived during the night and were stationed on the highway 80 grounds. Regulator card men, they will assist the staff of 12 who this week opened a military postoffice in the Missouri Pacific club house here. Through these men with their regulatory cards on each soldier encamped in the area, mails are directed to the correct addresses, Colonel Aldrich stated.

SEEKS ENEMY U-BOAT WHICH ATTACKED SHIP

Roosevelt Says More Than One Assault Made On Destroyer Greer

'ELIMINATION' AIM

American Vessel Clearly Marked And U. S. Flag On Display

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—(AP)—President Roosevelt said today that the United States destroyer Greer had been attacked more than once, that steps were being taken to track down the marauding submarine, and that the vessel would be eliminated if found.

Mr. Roosevelt, speaking to a press conference, did not say exactly how many attacks had been made on the vessel, which was carrying mail to Iceland. But, he said, they occurred in daylight, and definitely on the American side of the ocean.

He said that while the Greer was alone at the time torpedoes were launched at her, with no other American ships nearby, she was clearly marked, and carried an identification number, plus an American flag.

Asked what would be done if the attacking vessel were found, Mr. Roosevelt said he supposed American forces would "eliminate" it or try to. He authorized direct quotation of the word eliminate and said it was a good one.

The chief executive said the Greer was attacked under conditions of good daylight and visibility. The navy department had announced torpedoes were launched at her yesterday morning and that the destroyer promptly dropped depth charges.

Mr. Roosevelt did not say whether all the attacks occurred within a re-

ARMY PROGRAM IN ALASKA HIT BY BREWSTER

Senator Says 360 Refrigerators Sent To Frozen North Posts

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Senator Brewster, Republican, Maine, just returned from a Pacific defense inspection flight, criticized today the military program in Alaska, including what he said was an army proposal, since abandoned, to shelter Alaskan troops in tents.

Brewster said he called the attention of war department officials to a requirement of law that "adequate housing" be provided for troops above the Mason-Dixon line, and suggested that "tents in an Alaskan winter would not answer that description."

He has since been assured, he added, that adequate barracks would be constructed.

Brewster, a member of a special senate committee investigating the defense program, made a 14,000-mile tour of Pacific coast and Alaskan de-

VITAMIN B MAY PROVE BIG AID TO EPILEPTICS

Helps Protect Rats From Convulsions Similar To Human Ailment

By Howard W. Blakeslee
(Associated Press Science Writer)

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 5.—(AP)—A new protective effect of vitamin B on the brain was reported to the American Psychological association today.

The vitamin helps to protect rats from convulsions which closely resemble human epilepsy of the worst type, known as grand mal seizures.

The discovery was made while investigating a queer and little known side of a rat's behavior, namely the fact that if a very loud, high-pitched sound is made close to him, the animal falls into terrific convulsions.

Evidence that the brain itself is involved was reported by Donald B. Lindsley, Frank W. Finger and Charles E. Henry of the Emma Pendleton Bradley home and Brown university, Providence, R. I.

They drove rats crazy with a Galton whistle, whose tone is so shrill that it sometimes cannot be heard except by the best human ears. Electrical attachments to the animals' heads revealed that their brains were behaving exactly the same as those of a human epileptic during convulsion.

There was a tremendous increase in brain electrical activity. The spurts of brain current, moreover, showed the same pecular spikes or peaks of high potential as human epileptics.

Discovery of the protection of the vitamin was made at the University of Pittsburgh and reported by Robert A. Patten, Harry W. Karn and C. G. King.

They first fed rats a diet low in calories and vitamins. This diet made the animals very susceptible to convulsions caused by high-pitched sounds.

Then they gave the rats B-1 and also most of the other B vitamins along with some calcium, phosphorus and magnesium. The rats in all cases became less subject to the epileptic-like fits, although none became completely resistant.

The Pittsburgh workers concluded that lack of vitamins, especially B-1, and lack of food are important factors in causing rats to fall into sound-induced convulsions.

CIVITAN CLUB IS PLANNING ACTIVITY

The Monroe Civitan club at the meeting this week in Hotel Frances voted to purchase for all high school libraries of Ouachita parish copies of the book of essays submitted on citizenship themes in connection with a nation-wide contest held.

The club also voted to act as co-sponsor with the Ouachita Valley Fair association in providing free rides for children on the various concessions at the fair grounds. This will take place after the maneuvers are completely and will be presumably during October.

Other projects were discussed and unusual interest was shown by club members in the plans for the ensuing year.

EXPLAINS HOW SISSIES MADE

Parental Affection Makes Masculine Men And Feminine Women

CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—(AP)—How parents make sissy men of their boys and masculine women of their girls, without realizing they are doing it, was described to the American Psychological association today.

The study was reported by Leonard W. Ferguson of the University of Connecticut. Boys tend to become feminine, and girls masculine, he said, if the parents teach a culture different from that of the rest of the community.

The same thing happens if the children are subjected to irrational discipline, or if one parent is absent from home a great deal. If one parent is inferior to the other, boys are likely to feminine and girls grow masculine.

If parents give no regular allowance to children, or give them few gifts, the boys apparently become more feminine and the girls most masculine. With many gifts and toys, these trends were reversed.

Parental disregard or active hostility tended to make more feminine men and masculine women. But parental affection and kind treatment led to the opposite results.

A lax religious training was another thing found to induce femininity in boys and masculinity in girls.

"Men," said Ferguson, "who are attached to their father are more masculine, but women who are attached to their father are more feminine than persons not so attached. Conflict between father and son causes the latter to become more feminine and conflict between father and daughter causes the latter to become more masculine. Attachment to mother is associated with greater femininity in both sons and daughters, whereas conflict is associated with greater masculinity."

Ferguson concluded it boiled down mainly to this:

A pleasant childhood is the one most likely to develop masculinity in boys and femininity in girls. The reason, he said, is that under the pleasant home surroundings they acquire so-called normal patterns of behavior.

RISING GRAIN PRICES BRING ADDED WEALTH

$700,000,000 Poured Into Cereal Belt In Last Three Months

By Franklin Mullin

CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Steadily rising grain prices during the domestic harvest season have poured unexpected added wealth estimated at more than $700,000,000 into the cereal belt in the last three months, market statistics showed today.

Since harvesters began work in the southwest wheat country, market prices of farmers' big money crops, wheat, corn, oats, rye, barley and soybeans, have advanced 12 to 37 per cent to the highest levels in about four years.

Over the same period estimates of production of these crops have been hiked from about 4,900,000,000 bushels to almost 5,100,000,000, one of the largest harvests on record, comparing with slightly over 4,900,000,000 last year.

The added market value of these crops because of the unusual combination of higher prices and increased production means augmented wealth that will accrue to producers either through direct marketings or transformation of grain into livestock and livestock products.

Market statisticians estimated the potential market value of these crops, including a better than billion dollar wheat harvest and better than two billion dollar corn yield, at slightly more than $4,100,000,000, the largest in recent years. A year ago at this time, when market prices were 14 to 56 cents below present prices, the harvest was worth only about $2,600,000,000. Present prices range above $1.15 a bushel for wheat, 70 cents for rye, 75 for corn, 45 cents for oats and $1.70 for soybeans in the Chicago spot market.

Market experts said this year's golden flow of grain would contribute to the sharp increase in cash farm income from sale of all products which, coupled with government payments, is expected to match or better that of any of the past 20 years, totaling well over ten billion dollars.

They attributed rising grain prices chiefly to circumstances associated with the national defense effort. Cereals, they said, have been strengthened by rising commodity prices in general, increased livestock production to meet lend-lease requirements for food shipments abroad, rising national consumption due to better employment and consumer buying power, war-time psychology in the market and government price raising policies. Crop loan rates were elevated to 85 per cent of parity, the level deemed necessary to restore producer purchasing power to that of 1909-14.

However, average farm prices for principal grains at mid-August ranged from 51 to 81 per cent of parity, with parity levels increasing steadily in recent months because of rising costs of things producers buy.

The most effective way to combat weeds is to prevent their entrance by clean cultivation before seeding, by the use of pure seed, by clean topdressing, and by ample fertilizing.

About 15,000 man-hours are needed in the construction of a modern pursuit plane.

BOY TO GO TO SCHOOL AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Nine Years Of Life Spent Flat On Stomach In Hospital

PEMBROKE, Mass., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Carl Mason is going to see the inside of a schoolhouse for the first time next Monday, after spending practically the entire 11 first years of his life in hospitals—including nine years when "I had to lie flat on my stomach."

He learned to walk less than a year ago, and he's been out of the hospital only six weeks new, apparently recovered from the tuberculosis of the spine that had gripped him from cradle days.

His mother says that life for him now is "just like a baby's—learning of many new things for the first time."

Some of his "firsts" since he left the hospital:

He's fondled a dog and a cat. He's walked barelegged in the luxury of pine needles near his home by Oldham lake. He's been bathing in outdoor water "instead of just tubs like we had in the hospital." He's seen things growing in a garden and—

He's seen his mother bake an apple pie.

"He can't get used to the gas range and the refrigerator," his mother said today, "and when he first came home, he asked me what we called the different rooms in the house. You see, he was only 11 months old when he first was taken to a hospital, and since then he never had been in an ordinary house."

But Carl won't be backward if the kids at school start doing tricks. He has a honey that he can spring—writing with his feet.

The boy learned to do that when he was forced to lie flat on a bed at the New England Peabody hospital in Newton. He learned later by hand.

And, if any of his schoolmates can boast about the window they broke playing baseball, he can tell how he broke a plate glass window in the hospital while propelling his "go-cart"—a three-wheeled cot which was his home for four years.

During his illness Carl got the equivalent of three years of schooling. So he will enter the fourth grade, traveling back and forth by bus.

The boy is somewhat underweight, but his appetite is good, he can climb a tree with the skill of any of the kids, he likes the same kind of adventure stories they do, and he has a swell collection of stamps.

And, of yes, he had a session of poison ivy during his first summer of new life.

WOMEN TO MAN BALLOONS

LONDON, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Thousands of women, it was disclosed today, will be assigned shortly to barrage balloon details, thus releasing additional manpower for duty with the R. A. F. Experiments have proved, it was said, that women are as capable as men in handling the big balloons which are used chiefly as a defense against dive bombing.

It is estimated that a 1,000-horsepower airplane engine will consume about 100 gallons of gasoline an hour at full speed.

BURKE ASSUMES LOCAL POSITION

Lake Charles Man Is Assistant Manager Of Sears, Roebuck & Co.

P. J. Burke of Lake Charles, assumed his duties as assistant manager of the Sears, Roebuck and company recently, and has already made a large number of friends.

He has completed 13 years of service for this company and is regarded as one of its most reliable employes. He began his duties with this company in his native city of Hutchinson, Kan., and beginning in a humble capacity, he proved adept at merchandising and was promoted step by step until he became the assistant manager of the store. After a 10-year service to the company in Hutchinson, he was assigned to Lake Charles, La., where he was assistant store manager for Sears for nearly three years.

The assignment as assistant store manager to the Sears store here is a promotion for Mr. Burke.

He stated that he always takes a keen interest in civic affairs and is well pleased with the setup here. He has a wife and two small sons who will attend Monroe schools this fall. The family is located at 1109 North Second street.

MISSING MAN STILL IS BEING SOUGHT

Efforts are still being exerted by the Monroe police department to locate Charles Schumaker, 56, who is missing from his home. He is described as five feet, eight inches tall, weighing 180 pounds, with light complexion, blue eyes, light hair, wearing gray trousers and white shirt.

His social security number is given as 436-16-0928.

About 2 per cent of the population of the United States is interested in philately, or the collection of stamps.

YOUNG ARMY FLIER IS KILLED IN FALL

BAY MINETTE, Ala., Sept. 5.—(AP)—A young army flier from Maxwell field, Alabama, tentatively identified as Cadet Alfred Joseph Trehanon of Albany, N. Y., was killed last night when his plane crashed two miles north of here.

State Highway Patrolman D. J. Thigpen said the cadet's body was found one-fourth of a mile from the wrecked plane. The ripcord of his unopened parachute was clutched in his hand.

Maxwell field officials said Trehanon left the field early last night on a training flight.

Another Maxwell field cadet, Albert Horsfall of Exeter, N. H., died when his plane crashed in a swamp north of Mobile Saturday. Another cadet, flying in the same formation over Mobile, parachuted to safety and was rescued.

The daily diet of the soldier today contains twice as much liquid milk and its equivalents—cheese, dried and canned milk—as did that of his World war predecessor.

Up-to-date football fields of the future will have electric eyes to record field goals, it is predicted.

Jingo

Words are like people. Some of them get bad names, some good. Some deserve the bad and some the good, but all are affected by the reputation they bear.

"Jingo" has become a bad word. It has come to mean an irresponsible war-monger.

The name comes, if recollection serves, from an old verse reading in part, "We don't want to fight, but by Jingo, if we do, we've got the men, we've got the ships, we've got the money, too!"

People remember the catchy word "Jingo." They forget the "we don't want to fight."

The United States, whether we like it or not, is getting into a position just a little like that today. We, too, don't want to fight. For two years we have resolutely stayed clear of fighting. We have given up rights to ship our goods by sea which we always claimed before. No American ship has gone into a European port which was blockaded or in the actual war zone, though we always previously claimed the right to send them there.

Why did we give up those rights? Because insisting on them 23 years ago got us into a fight, and today we don't want to fight.

What is the best assurance today of keeping out of a fight?

Why, a clear demonstration to the world that "we've got the ships, we've got the men, we've got the money, too!"—and further, the clear demonstration that, if necessary, we propose to use them.

The United States has nothing very directly against Japan. It wants no war with Japan. But it simply will not acquiesce in Japan's putting a "Keep Off" sign on the whole of east Asia. The United States has nothing very directly against Germany. But it will not acquiesce in Germany's putting a "Keep Off" sign on the whole of Europe and Africa. Especially since those signs are expanding signs, by their nature and by their past performance.

There is a chance to avoid war if the United States will pile up sufficient force that no party of World war II will wish to offend us. There is a chance to avoid war if enough surplus war supplies are produced and sent to those resisting aggression so that they may win out. There is a chance to avoid war if United States power is so great that fear of it forces a decent peace.

But those are the only chances. Otherwise the United States faces war whether it wants to fight or not. In either case, the ships, the men, and the money are as necessary to the national life as breath itself.

Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—You are looking at Dacita, of whom the public is becoming increasingly aware. Her father, a scientist, a research expert in the study of malaria on the island of Puerto Rico, wanted her to study medicine. So she obtained her bachelors degrees from the U. of P. R. and came to America for her master's degree—but instead she met Ned Wayburn and became a dancer.

How does she get that sweeping, gliding motion into what appears to be West Indian congas and rhumbas? . . . She studied Javanese dancing. . . . "I handle the moracas with a wide sweep," she tells you between appearances at the Rainbow Room. There are tricks of oriental poise and serenity which she incorporates into her dancing. These differ from Cuban technique, but they blend beautifully.

Dacita is about 23. She is five, five. Even when she was a kid in short dresses she became interested in dancing because one of the family cooks was a bomba expert. . . . She wouldn't dance the bomba unless she was having a little nip. . . . White people aren't supposed to see the real bomba; it has a religious significance.

"She was fat but graceful," explains Dacita, "and she had the straightest back I ever saw; it was from her that I first thought of dancing and began to analyse rhumbas and congas. We also had an old servant who was 104 years old. He knew all the arias from all the operas and he used to sing them to me. He never wore shoes in his life and his teeth all were perfect. He could roast a pig better than anyone in the islands and everybody wanted to borrow him. He took three generations of our family to the opera."

After Dacita decided that maybe dancing was more fun than ministering to human ills, she danced through most of the haunts of the West Indies, the Bahamas and Florida. She also became a model and at the same time studied voice. . . . "I want to get out on that floor and sing," she tells you in husky accents. . . . "Most Spanish people want either to sing or dance. . . . I want to do both."

Dacita tells me she is pure Spanish. She says her people came out to Puerto Rico several generations ago under a system that, she feels, may have contributed to the decline of Spain as a world power.

"What system was that?"

'Paid substitutes," she replied. "When rich young men were called for military service, they sent paid substitutes and then left for the islands."

She now has been in New York for three years. One of her first experiences here was on Broadway in the short-lived revue "Crazy With the Heat." . . . But 1941 seems to be the year she has been waiting for. . . . Everything this year, so far, has been good. "Look," says Dacita, "I keep my fingers crossed—both hands, same time."

More than one-half of the world's population is in Asia.

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 5.—Garbo and boy-friend (or husband?) Gaylord Hauser are co-buying business properties in Beverly Hills. . . . Ann Sheridan will be the femme sparring partner in Warners' "Gentleman Jim Corbett." . . . It'll shock their Hollywood pals to learn that the Songwriter Ben Oaklands are about to announce divorce plans.

When Jack Dempsey goes on that circus tour, reconciled bride Hannah Williams will accompany him in a $150,000 private car once owned by steel magnate Charles M. Schwab. . . . Sign of a comeback try: Bob Breen has had his nose bobbed. . . . Hmmm, hear that "Lady in the Dark" has set Paramount back a neat million already—and not one scene on film yet!

Tip to city desks: Vede Ann Borg and Songwriter Paul Herrick eloped to Yuma Sunday; scenarist Albert Duffy was best man. . . . Gloria Vanderbilt, Jr., and old-steady Geoffrey Jones didn't date during her recent NY visit; Hollywood thinks Pat di Cicco is the reason. . . . The authors are offering Jawn Barrymore plenty to stage-star in "The Walking Gentleman."

20th Century-Fox and Maureen O'Hara are tiffing; they want her pronto to play opposite Tyrone Power in "Son of Fury," she's stalling for time to get her Reno divorce. . . . Ex-star Patsy Ruth Miller's play "Windy Hills," is doing so well on the Straw Hat circuit that it will get Broadway production this fall. . . . Adela Rogers St. John's son Bill (now in the R. C. A. C.) will wed model Vera Gilmer.

Mutterings: Most Hollywood wits are so quick on the trigger, figuratively speaking, that you want to pull a trigger, literally speaking. . . . Silly notion: Laird Cregar playing hop-scotch. . . . Growl: To the firing line with Hollywood English warriors who monopolize every conversation with windy analyses of late war developments. . . . Ode to mayhem: "To do this part justice, Mr. Carradine, you'll have to lose at least 20 pounds!" . . . Is my failure to thrill over studio blurbs about Patricia Morrison blondining her hair evidence that I'm getting blase? . . . Imaginable hilarious scene: Charles Boyer making red-hot love to Zasu Pitts. . . . After that year of blind obedience in the army, Jimmy Stewart will be eligible for a Cecil B. De Mille picture.

Laugh of the Week: Dick Powell's dilly about the actor whose doctor ultimatumed that he must stop drinking or else. To kill the habit, the medico ordered him to eat something whenever he felt the craving for liquor. All went well until one night the actor heard a strange scuffling noise in the hotel room next to his and, on investigation, discovered his neighbor in the act of hanging himself. He rushed to a phone and called the desk clerk. "Hey!" he screamed, "the guy next door is trying to kill himself! For heaven's sake, send up a coupla ham sandwiches, quick!"

Eight Years Ago In Hollywood: Movie stars, dissatisfied with "working conditions," organized the Screen Actors' Guild." . . . Frank James Cooper legally changed his name to "Gary" Cooper. . . . Hollywood mourned the death of Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle. . . . Pola Negri issued her annual marriage denial—this time involving magnate Harold F. McCormick. . . . Marlene Dietrich and Mae West were feuding. . . . The Marquis de la Falaise, picture-making in Bali, rushed home to refute stories he and Connie Bennett would divorce. . . . Eleanor Holm married Arthur Jarrett. . . . Greta Garbo purchased a large estate in Sweden. . . . John and Dolores Barrymore and their two babies yacht-ed to Alaska. . . . Renee ("The Big Parade") Adoree died after a long illness. . . . Lupe Velez and Johnny Weissmuller embarked on a stormy marital voyage. . . . Jack Dempsey and Hannah Williams traded "I do's." . . . Sylvia Sidney walked out on Paramount and sailed for Europe.

Our Children

By ANGELO PATRI

MOST CHILDREN STEAL THINGS

Most children in the stage of growth that lies between infancy and pre-adolescence, 8, 9, 10, 11 and sometimes 12, take what they want without regard to ownership, at one time or another. With some the idea does not last long, but with a few difficult children, it makes a lot of trouble.

The ordinary healthy child of this age knows little or nothing about the implications of stealing—"taking things" they call it—pilfering, the educationist terms it. Ethics, personal morality, take time and demand plenty of experience to develop them. The spirit which scorns lying and stealing is a matured, experienced one. The childish one turns to such expediences as naturally as ducks to water.

When a child takes a few cents from the family purse it is well not to get excited about it, at least to the point of showing the excitement to the child. Wait until you can think about it clearly. Then go over the child's life in home and school and society in an effort to discover the cause of his desire to have money to spend. Why did he want it?

Just to show off to other children? To buy their momentary regard? That would mean that he is failing to hold his place among them by the usual means of success in games and the give-and-take of the child's world. Why is he failing?

Search carefully. Have him examined at the best children's clinic you can reach. If he has a physical defect it will lower his power, make him weaker than his companions, cause him to feel himself a failure and make him try to piece himself out by using money freely. Cure or help the defect and the feeling of this need will be lessened so that the necessary instruction will take hold.

Have his intelligence tested and in that test get the teacher's opinion about the child. If she is an experienced teacher she will have a contribution to make in this testing that will be equally as important as the psychologist's. The classroom teacher usually knows more about a pupil's general intelligence than anybody else, and her judgment of the pupil's state of mind casts light on the expert's findings.

Train the pilfering child to responsibility through worth-while experiences. The only way he can learn about money is to use it and the best way for him to do that is under the supervision of his mother. Begin by training him to buy one commodity for family use, daily, over a period long enough to teach him something about what it costs the family to use it.

Buying the bread, milk, butter, eggs, attending to the payments for newspaper service, keeping account of the costs of such services to the family, will teach him a great deal. Begin with one item and stay with it long enough for him to master it, and then add another.

Learning how the household money is spent, keeping accounts, actually doing the buying, teaches family responsibility faster than any punishment can teach it. Personal examples of care in money matters, in honesty in all dealings, a personal allowance for each child, help too.

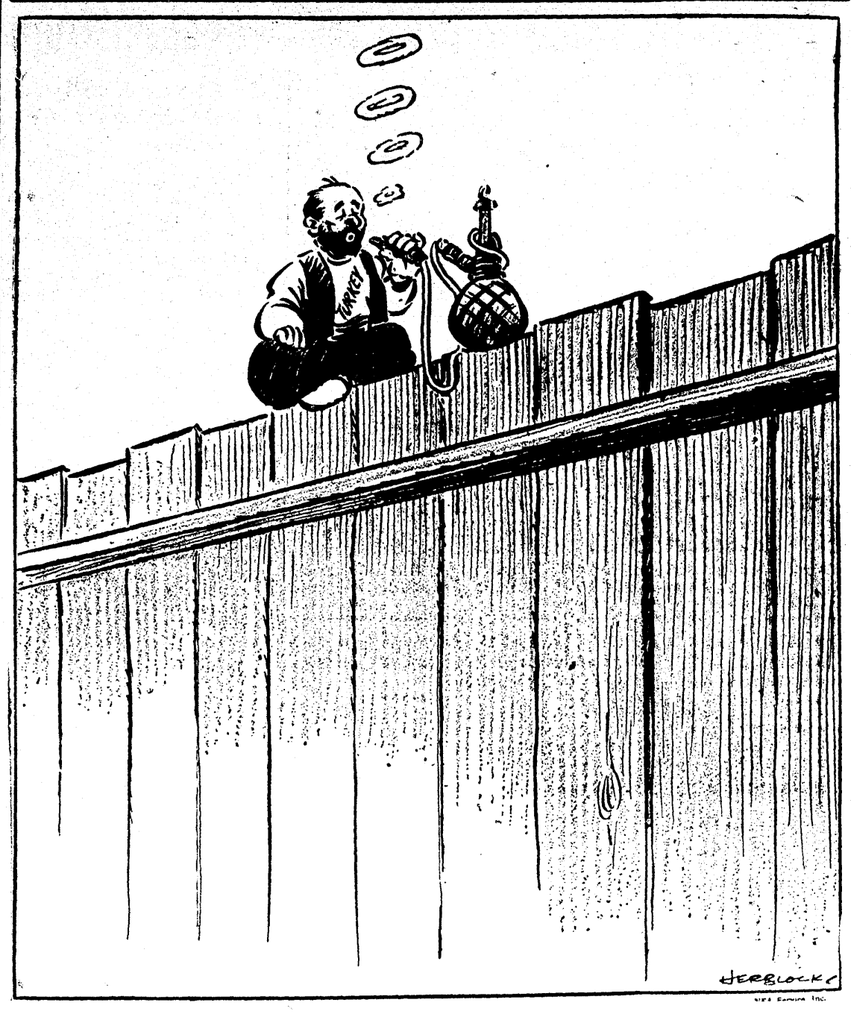
CHAMPION SITTER



IN WASHINGTON

By Sigrid Arne
(Pinch-Hitting for Jack Stinnett)

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Uncle Sam has inherited a new police run that has its light side. Effective September 1, he is policing the arrangements by which motion pictures are bought and sold.

The responsibility lies in the commerce and justice departments. That's where the light side comes in. These gentlemen in commerce and justice are dignified lawyers and statisticians who now have to know the difference between a "sleeper" and a "turkey."

A "sleeper" is a picture that Hollywood is not excited about. Suddenly it's a hit, with pleasant overtones from the cash register.

A "turkey" is one over which no one ever gets excited.

A Thanksgiving Matter

Now that Uncle Sam is taking an interest there should be fewer turkeys.

The issue—and the federal policing—hinged about two practices: "block booking" and "blind selling."

"Block booking" is simply this: A movie company says to a movie house owner, "Here's that Glamorous Gertie picture you want. But we've made 24 other pictures. Take the whole smear or you don't get Gertie."

"Blind selling" meant just that. The movie house owner signed without seeing them. He read short synopses of the stories, signed, and expected the worst. That way he wasn't disappointed.

But now Uncle Sam says he must be permitted to preview the pictures he buys.

One Good One In Five?

Uncle Sam says also that no block of pictures can include more than five. Up to now blocks have run to 35 and 40, at times. So what does that mean for movie fans? It means that there has to be at least one super-super picture in each five. It has happened that there'd be only one in 35.

Movie producers have been holding the first sets of previews all over the country. Movie house owners were invited in to inspect the pictures they were thinking of buying, shown in blocks of five.

But human nature still is queer. The first previews pulled in just a small number, although the movie house owners have yowled like Kilkenny cats for years over buying blind.

Habit Is Hard To Shake

The commerce department's movie ace, Nathan Golden, says that probably the movie house men have done grab-bag buying for so long that they think they have a sixth sense. But he believes movie attendance this fall will be a "banger." You see, he's another dignified statistician who's going Hollywood.

Golden says May and June were slow months. Then July jumped fast. The autumn months should jump even faster when the new flock of super-supers come along. The industry blames the May and June slump on the defense program. Families were moving around on new defense jobs. Now they're settled, and on the payroll, and they're keeping up again with Glamorous Gertie and her colleagues.

GIRL WHO KILLED 2 TOTS ON PROBATION

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Ann Marie Hanssen will pay no severe penalty for killing her two children at birth, and San Diego State college is cleared of any responsibility for the 23-year-old student's act.

Superior Judge Edward Kelly placed the unmarried mother, who pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the double slaying, on 10 years' probation. "I cannot find it in my heart to add to the burden of this girl—she has been punished enough," he said.

Shortly before the probation hearing ended Miss Hanssen told the court that a sex lecture given to a college health education class last spring "had nothing to do with my present predicament."

A report by County Psychiatrist H. F. Andrews, introduced earlier in the hearing, quoted the young woman as saying the lecturer, at least by inference, had approved trial marriages and extra-marital sex relations and that this had tended to place her "further off guard."

College faculty members, called by Judge Kelly for an explanation, denied any such advice ever had been given by a speaker at the school, but investigation into the matter continued until Miss Hanssen herself absolved both the institution and the lecturer.

Robert Prophit, Ouachita parish representative, is faced with a charge of fighting at Columbia as a result of an attack made on Huey Long, chairman of the Louisiana Public Service Commission, there this morning. The attack preceded a political meeting at which Mr. Long and Senator E. S. Broussard were the speakers. Accounts of the difficulty differ. According to a phone message received from the News-Star's Columbia correspondent, Representative Prophit was standing inside the door of the Columbia courthouse when Long entered. Prophit is alleged to have struck the commissioner over the head with a cane, before any words were exchanged. Commissioner Long turned and ran out into the courthouse yard. Prophit followed and struck Long a second time over the head, this time shattering the cane. The two men clinched until Elbridge Erskine interfered, pulling them apart.

More than 100 miles of the Interstate Natural Gas company's steel pipeline between Fowler and Baton Rouge has already been laid and it is expected that the balance of the 170-mile line will be completed by the first of the year, it was announced by Edgar G. Hill, resident manager of Ford, Bacon and Davis company of New York, the engineering firm that is building the line.

A new light plane now in production is the Stinson Voyager. The plane has an electric starter, slots, flaps, hydraulic brakes, and seats three. Powered by a 90-horsepower engine, the top speed is 115 miles an hour with a ceiling of 13,000 feet.

MADE UP TO KILL

by Kelley Roos

Chapter 31

More About The Shot

THE cars sped by below the window, even spaced and quiet, like models in an advertising display. Across the street, the doorman at the Esquador came out onto the sidewalk and blew his whistle. A cruising taxi rolled to a stop before him, picked up its passenger and rolled away. There was no sound in my apartment, and the night seemed to press down on the city outside and smother its noises to a low rumble.

It might have been an hour or just a few minutes ago that Steve had left the room. I wasn't aware of time or of people or of anything but the numb feeling that seeped through my body and the sharp ache in my head.

There was a little icy ridge around the frame of the window and I scratched it with my nail and it shredded and fell off. Behind me, pacing the floor, Jeff spoke musingly.

"You've learned that trick from Carol. That trick of draping yourself in the window. That's how she was sitting this afternoon before . . ."

"Jeff, let's not talk. Not yet."

We lapsed into silence again and I closed my eyes. I tried to think things out, to think what I should say to Carol, how I would answer what she said to me. My mind closed on me and it was useless.

"Haila!"

Jeff's voice wasn't musing now. It was urgent and excited. I swung around to face him, almost frightened.

"Haila, listen. This afternoon . . . this afternoon at the party when that shot came through the window!"

"Yes?"

"Tell me everything that happened after we got here."

"But why?"

"Please!" His hands were working nervously together. "We got here a little after one. Think, Haila, try to remember. What did we do? What did we do exactly?"

"We talked to Carol for a few minutes." I said. My mind went struggling back mechanically over the afternoon. "And then Clint Bowers came with his flowers and Carol went into the kitchen. Is that what you mean?"

"Yes. Yes, go on."

"Then, in a moment, she came back with the bottle and some glasses. You opened the champagne and we drank."

"Where were we then, can you remember, Haila? Where were we sitting, you and I? And what was Carol doing and where was Clint Bowers?"

Suddenly the picture flashed before me, clearly, like a sharp bright etching. "You and I sat there on the couch, your feet were on the coffee table and I was busy knocking them off. Clint was in the big armchair in the far corner and the champagne was on the table right beside him. Carol was here where I am, in the window seat. I remember thinking how pretty the light looked in her hair."

"And then?" Jeff was a moving blur, pacing up and down before me.

"Carol told us she was going to marry Steve. She said it was wrong of her, it wasn't fair to Steve. But she was going to marry him anyway. I thought how brave and honest she was. And then we congratulated her and said it . . . it was wonderful. And Clint spoke then, I think. He suggested that we have another drink. He said, 'Carol, you're first,' or something like that, and she went over to him. She had her glass in her hand. And when she got almost to him, the shot came."

Hysteria

JEFF stopped in front of me. "Are you sure, Haila? Is that it? Are you sure it happened just like that?"

"Yes."

"So am I." He walked aimlessly around the room, kicking up the corners of the rugs, smoothing them down again. He lit a cigarette, took one deep drag and smudged it out. He wheeled back at me. "Look, Haila. One more thing. I want you to think back again, hard. And pretty far. Do you remember the night Green Apples opened and I waited for you outside your dressing room? Eve North and Philip Ashley were fighting. Remember?"

"Yes, of course I remember."

"We could hear them through the walls. Tell me everything they said, everything you heard."

"Oh, Jeff, please! I'm a frazzle. I'm exhausted."

"I want you to reconstruct for me, that's all."

"My mind won't function any more. It won't. Reconstruct yourself."

"Haila, please . . ."

"Oh, all right. Philip accused Eve of stealing a scene from him. He was mad because during his big speech Eve . . ."

"When did that big speech come?"

"Listen; if I'm going to reconstruct, I'm going to reconstruct in my own way."

"Go ahead."

"I'm too tired to change my style."

"Okay."

"I've been through too much. I feel like crying."

"Wait just five minutes."

"I'm hysterical, Jeff."

"I know you are. Shall I hit you in the face?"

"Will it hurt?"

"I'll say. But it'll stop your hysteria."

"Can I slap you back?" I started to giggle, I couldn't help it. Jeff caught me on the cheek with his open palm. I rocked, then things went red.

When I pulled myself together Jeff was sitting on the floor groaning. I knelt beside him. "Jeff, what's wrong? Jeff, talk to me!"

"You louse! You hit me in the belly!"

"Oh, I'm so sorry!"

"Yeah." Jeff was up. He practiced breathing again.

"Shall I get you a cup of tea?"

"No, thanks. And let that be a lesson to you, Haila. Don't get hysterical around me. Now, where were we?"

"You were on the floor."

"C'mon, Eve and Philip. His big speech. Where is it in the play?"

"Almost at the end of the third act. Eve was supposed to be arranging flowers on the dining table while he talked. She said that there weren't any flowers on the table, that either Tommy or Phoebe Thompson was to blame for forgetting them. She said she had to do something while he droned along and Ashley said she needn't have rattled the complete set of silver, the glasses and the plates. Just upsetting the table would have been more effective. Ashley heavy sarcasm. There, that's it. That's what they were fighting about, and what difference does it make?"

"Were the flowers there?"

"No, I don't think so. I guess Eve was right."

In The Bag

JEFF stopped his pacing and with his back toward me looked silently at Carol's door. Over his shoulder I could see him waving out a match and splitting it with his thumb nail. When he turned he was puffing furiously at a half lit cigarette.

"That's just how it happened, isn't it, Haila? You're sure of that?"

"Of course."

He thumped his hand on my back. "Sweetheart, let's get married. I have just put the Colony Murder Case in the bag!"

I stared at him to see if this was a joke and I knew it wasn't. The eagerness in his voice and eyes was genuine. Before I could catch enough breath to speak he was sliding into his overcoat, moving toward the door. I rushed after him.

"Jeff, you know! You've found out who's been trying to kill Carol!"

He grinned at me. "Yes, I know."

"Was it Ashley? Is Philip Ashley the murderer after all?"

"I can't tell you yet."

"Tommy? Tommy . . . Oh, Jeff, not Steve!"

"Don't try to guess, Haila."

"Jeff, you've got to tell me!"

His face went grave and both hands clamped my shoulders. "Don't ask me, Haila, I don't want you to know. It's . . . dangerous. Believe me, Haila."

"But you . . . then it's dangerous for you? Jeff, you've got to tell the police."

"Not yet."

I said furiously: "Oh, you don't know. You've no more idea than I have. How could you? Nothing's happened to show you."

"You just told me who the murderer is."

"I? I told you!"

He snatched his hat and gave me a preoccupied kiss on the cheek. I caught him as he reached the door.

"Jeff, where are you going?"

"Out and about, dear, out and about."

"What are you going to do?"

"I can't tell you that. But I'll tell you what I'm not going to do. Sleep. Not a wink. I'll call you in the morning. I'll keep in constant touch with you. G'night."

I stood before him in the doorway, blocking his exit. Suddenly, I couldn't bear his leaving, couldn't face the thought of a night in that place with no one but Carol. I felt my face go white, heard myself gulp as I spoke. "Jeff, don't leave me. Please, don't go."

He held my hand tight. "What is it, Haila?"

"Jeff, I'm frightened, really frightened. I'm afraid for you. I'm afraid for myself, to stay here along with . . . with Carol. When I thought she was . . . before I knew about her, I didn't mind. It seemed worth while then and I could be brave. But now, now I'm scared. I don't want to stay here with her. If someone tried now . . . to hurt her. I . . ."

"Nobody's going to hurt Carol. Nobody's even going to try."

"But . . ."

"Haila, I'll tell you this. Keep it under your hat. We've been on the greatest wild goose chase that ever was perpetrated. Nobody ever tried to kill Carol. Her life's never been in danger for one minute."

STERLINGTON WOMEN HOST TO SOLDIERS

Sterlington women demonstrated southern hospitality to members of the Red and Blue armies that were encamped near that place Wednesday. The Reds were on the east bank of the river engaged in "defending" the town and power plant, while the Blues were the attacking force on the west bank.

The ladies served an elaborate chicken dinner and all the trimmings to the Reds of the army in the morning and to the Blues of the army in the afternoon.

Those who served the meals were Mrs. L. H. Burns, Mrs. Tom Wafer, Mrs. J. E. Waugh, Mrs. Claude Dunham, Mrs. Floyd Dollar, Mrs. J. O. Cooper, Mrs. J. A. Cain, Mrs. Bill Cain, Mrs. A. E. Patterson and others.

VICHY PROTEST MADE TO U. S.

Claims Press Carrying 'Lying Campaign' Against Embassy

VICHY, Unoccupied France, Sept. 5. (AP)—The French announced today an official protest to Washington against what was described as a "lying campaign" in the United States press against Gaston Henry-Haye, Vichy's ambassador to Washington, and members of his embassy.

The official announcement, which cited the New York Herald Tribune particularly, said that the alleged campaign, "coming after the appeal recently addressed by Marshal Petain to the American press asking it to show more understanding in regard to France was felt with particular sadness in France."

The text of the announcement:

"For several days certain American newspapers have been carrying out violent attacks against our embassy at Washington.

"The New York Herald Tribune has been particularly prominent in this campaign directed against even Monsieur Henry-Haye and certain numbers of his colleagues, accusing these later of activity directed against the interests of the United States.

"Coming after the appeal recently addressed by Marshal Petain to the American press asking them to show more understanding to France, these attacks have been felt with particular sadness in France.

"The French government has protested to the American government against this lying campaign against the French embassy at Washington."

REVENUE DEPARTMENT IS SUING CALDWELL

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 5.—(AP)—The state revenue department today entered Louisiana State university's suit against George Caldwell, former university building superintendent now serving a federal prison term, in an attempt to have its income tax claims against Caldwell given priority over claims by L. S. U. and the United States government.

Alleging misuse of university property, L. S. U. first sued for $243,043 and attached the property of the former superintendent. The federal government intervened and obtained a lien on the property, contending that its income tax claim took priority.

The state department today in its "petition of third intervention" asserted Caldwell owed $3,873.04 in state income taxes, penalties and interest and that this obligation should be given precedence over all others.

Squads Of Blue Soldiers Keep Steady Guard Here

Advance Almatian Units Apparently Move West After 'Destroying Bridges'

Two squads of Blue soldiers maintained a steady guard at the western ends of the Louisville avenue and DeSiard street bridges yesterday and last night, as clashes between Blue and Red forces were reported north of here near the Arkansas border.

Abandoning the positions that they took early Tuesday morning at the eastern ends of the two bridgeheads when the first contingent of Blue, or Almatian, troops arrived here, advance units of Major General Robert C. Richardson's forces apparently moved westward after crossing the Ouachita river, leaving the two squads of observers to keep watch at the river.

Numbering not more than 18, the Blues guarding the ends of the two local traffic bridges, which were "blown up" Tuesday, kept in contact with the main Almatian force by radio.

Small groups of Reds were reported in and around Monroe last night, but no actual clashes with the Blues occurred.

Meanwhile, other units of Kotmk's army, attempting to encircle the Almatian force, effected crossings on the Ouachita river in southern Arkansas by means of pontoon bridges.

Although the bulk of the Second army forces had not yet reached north Louisiana, several thousand soldiers invaded this section and completed tactical problems yesterday.

The two squads stationed at the ends of the bridges here are composed of soldiers from Kansas' 137th Infantry. Armed only with rifles, their job is to observe and to see that only neutral army trucks cross the river.

Blue forces have "destroyed" every Ouachita river bridge between here and Camden.

KURZWEG TO HEAD CHARITY HOSPITAL

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Assistant State Institutions Director Gus Blancand announced today that Dr. Paul H. Kurzweg, Jr., who has served as acting superintendent of the Lafayette Charity hospital since March 1, had been made the hospital's permanent superintendent.

Blancand said Dr. Kurzweg had proved his capabilities as an able hospital executive and administrator.

The announcement was made by the assistant director in the absence of Director J. E. Snee who has left for Washington to survey a number of correctional, mental and penal institutions in the east on a tour arranged by the United States public health service.

MARCEL GITTON SLAIN IN PARIS

Former Communist Journalist Who Turned Against Party Shot

VICHY, Unoccupied France, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Mounting terrorism which held the threat of civil strife in German-occupied Paris claimed a new victim today when Marcel Gitton, former Communist who had turned against his party, died in a hospital from an unidentified assassin's bullet.

Gitton's death was another in a series of shootings and attacks which both French and German authorities have been striving to stop since Pierre Laval and Marcel Deat were wounded at Versailles August 27.

It raised the toll since the first outbreak August 21 to three dead and at least six more wounded by violence.

Gitton was taken to a hospital where doctors extracted a bullet from his left lung but delayed an operation to remove another slug from his abdomen because of his critical condition.

His assailant was said to have escaped on a bicycle.

Gitton was a collaborator on the Communist daily L'Humanite and secretary-general of the metal workers' union before the war, when he was elected to the chamber of deputies from the Seine department.

He refused to join other Communist deputies in signing a letter opposing the war and was not unseated when the chamber voted to oust the signers.

The gun with which Gitton was felled was the same type of weapon as the one Paul Colette fired at Pierre Laval and Marcel Deat and the same as the one in the slaying of Adolphe Rosenthal, well-known broker, in Paris last week. All were French 6.35 revolvers, corresponding to .25-caliber firearms in the United States.

Gitton was nearing his home in outlying Lilas, returning from the Lilas borough hall, when the cyclist, who had been waiting at a curb, opened fire on the 41-year-old former Communist leader.

The assassination followed swiftly the wounding of a German army sergeant in Paris. German police still are seeking his assailant.

INTERFERENCE WON'T LAST, JONES STATES

RUSTON, La., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Governor Sam Jones said here last night that his efforts to bring new industries to Louisiana had been halted only temporarily by "political bickering."

Addressing 200 members of the Lincoln Parish Defense council the governor declared in the last 12 months, $460,000,000 had been spent in the state on defense industries, five times as much as Louisiana farmers made in 1940.

He said that the state's farm workers were being employed in defense industries and that the state was losing farms at the rate of 1,100 a year.

"To combat this," he asserted, "the state plans to set up three experimental farms on which WPA workers will be put. These workers will work seven months out of a year for themselves and five for the WPA.

"This will be an effort to revive the farming industry in Louisiana so that we may have something to fall back on after the emergency is over."

Doctors in the wilderness of central Alaska often are called out on 10-day trips by dogsled.

TROOPS BIVOUAC NEAR ALEXANDRIA

ALEXANDRIA, La., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Four hundred and twenty officers and men of the First Pursuit group of Selfridge field, Michigan, bivouacked last night at Esler field here en route in 100 trucks to New Orleans and Beaumont, Tex., for maneuvers.

The men, a ground echelon which will operate 80 fighters of the group as part of the third air task force, left Michigan last Saturday and reported no incidents on the long overland trip which their 400 m.p.h. fighters can negotiate within a few hours.

They left during the day on the last lap of their journey, units of the 71st and 41st squadrons heading for New Orleans and those of the 27th squadron going to Beaumont.

TALLULAH TROOP REGISTERS WITH 22

Reregistration of Troop 56 of Tallulah was announced Friday by Olan H. Black, executive secretary of the Ouachita Valley Boy Scout council. Twenty-two youths are members of the troop, sponsored by the American Legion post.

E. Cecil Smith is scoutmaster, and Robert Graves, assistant scoutmaster. Ora Mueller is chairman of the troop committee, and members are G. Leslie Smith, Cornelius Van Zelfden and W. H. Erickson.

Troop members are Billy, Louis and Ayletta Buckner, Idorry Anderson, George Hurd, Herbert Jones, Jeff Goza, George Grant, Leon Marcus, Erle Reed, Carol Ritchie, Leon Ritchie, Billy King Smith, George Smith, H. S. Smith, Robert Williamson, Jack Bridge, Joe Halback, Bernard Frierson, W. H. Hall, Wray Bowie and Glen Whetstone.

There were 29 fatal accidents in non-air carrier flying during May, 1941, as compared to 17 during the previous month.

According to a recent survey, airline passengers travel short distances. Half the total number of passengers ride fewer than 250 miles.

Intimate Daily Affairs Popular

Luncheons And Dinners Honor College Students And Miss Jena Jackson

Dearly beloved by Monroe society are those intimate little luncheons and dinners which at this time of the year are almost daily affairs. Honor guests range from departing college students to visitors and brides-to-be.

An entertainment that was complimentary to Miss Lelia Dean Frazier, who will leave for L. S. U. in a few days, and to Miss Jena Jackson, who recently moved to Monroe from Baton Rouge, was the dinner given by Mrs. Aylmer Montgomery at her home on Island drive.

The dining table was made charming by a floral centerpiece featuring an unusually attractive arrangement. Gardenias were surrounded by sweetheart roses with forget-me-nots scattered throughout in an oblong low white bowl. Each guest was presented with an individual bouquet of the same flowers.

The dinner featured cold dishes in the best of summer style. Those who partook of the meal were Miss Martha McHenry, Miss Jean Terzia, Miss Gladys Emma Whitfield, Miss Marguerite McHenry, Miss Carolyn Oliver, the honorees, Miss Jackson and Miss Frazier, and the hostess, Mrs. Montgomery.

Along the same line was the luncheon with which Mrs. Clyde Paine observed Miss Martha McHenry's departure for another year at Louisiana State university. It was held Thursday at the Frances hotel.

Mrs. Paine wore an all-white ensemble, and Miss McHenry was dressed in smoky blue crepe with black accessories.

The table was a picture of yellow and blue, with a pale yellow cloth and gleaming blue glassware. A centerpiece of yellow gladioli and white clematis accented the color scheme.

Luncheon guests were Miss Martha McHenry, Miss Marguerite McHenry, Mrs. N. W. McHenry, Mrs. Henry Biedenharn, Jr., Miss Jean Terzia, Miss Mary Lavinia Inabnet, Miss Mabel Cole, Miss Virginia Husted, and Mrs. Paine.

INTEREST GAINING IN REVIVAL HERE

Attendance and interest continue to increase in the Stone Avenue Methodist church revival, conducted by Rev. E. W. Scott of Clara, Miss. A fine spirit of cooperation by the churches of the city is being shown.

The sermon theme Thursday night was "Repentance." The third chapter of Matthew was the basis of the talk. The speaker said: "We may reform our lives and yet we will go just as deeply in hell as one 'dead in sin.' No one can be saved by merely joining the church. The thief on the cross never joined the church nor was baptized but he repented of his sins and confessed God. The way to get rid of sin is to repent. Repentance implies a confession of sin."

Services are held at 10 a.m. and at 7:45 p.m. The public is cordially invited to attend.

AWL ANNOUNCES 5 BUILDING PERMITS

Five permits to build, one to move a house and one to demolish a structure were announced Friday by Sam H. Awl, city building inspector. H. R. Hayes received a permit to build a one-story brick residence on College avenue. To include eight rooms and three baths, the house will cost $8,000. Day labor will be employed, with W. V. Clark as superintendent.

A permit was issued to H. H. Bagwell for the construction of a one-story frame dwelling at 300 Smith street. The house, to contain a bath and four rooms, will cost $1,750. The owner will supervise building. DeWitt Henry received a permit to add to the one-story frame building residence at 503 Bres avenue. Day labor will be employed, at a cost of $275. A permit was issued to J. W. Hinson for the construction of a two-story frame garage apartment, at the rear of 124 Market street. The owner will do the work, to cost $1,500.

Dixie Bedding company received permission to move a one-story frame dwelling from 214 North Eighth street to Washington street. The company obtained another permit to demolish a one-story warehouse at the rear of 214 North Eighth street. Frank Bruscato was given a permit to build a one-story barbecue stand at 210 North Sixth street, to cost $30. Day labor will be employed.

CHEESE STRAWS

PERFECT WITH SALADS—Perfectly Delicious

• At last—a real "pepper-up-per" for your salads! Cheese Straws make salads a treat for the family, a brand new pleasure for guests, a finishing touch de luxe for the hostess!

Imagine tender, "toasty" cheese pastry served with your salads of crispy, garden-fresh vegetables or colorful fresh fruits. Add new zip to your salads, this new way, and see how easy it is to serve more of the vegetables and fruits that promote vim and vitality!

It's easy—and QUICK, too—to make these Cheese Straws, with this recipe and quick-mixing Spry, the flavor-saver. You get flaky, delicious pastry that just melts in your mouth, and every bit of the mellow cheese flavor seems to come through.

Here's a one-in-a-million recipe! Try it today.

CHEESE STRAWS

1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour	1 cup grated American cheese (¼ pound)
½ teaspoon salt	2 tablespoons water (about)
Dash of cayenne
½ cup Spry

Sift flour with salt and cayenne. Cut in Spry until mixture is like meal. Cut in cheese.

Sprinkle water over mixture. With a fork, work lightly into a dough. Add just enough water to moisten. Roll dough ¼-inch thick. Cut into ¼-inch strips, 5 inches long. Bake on generously Sprycoated baking sheet in very hot oven (450°F.) 10 to 12 minutes. Remove Cheese Straws immediately. Makes 40 cheese straws.

Peach Dumplings Are Delightful And Easy To Make

By Mrs. Gaynor Maddox
(NEA Service Staff Writer)

This is the peach season—with one of the biggest crops in years. Yellow peaches are a good source of vitamin A. Both yellow and white are a favorite source of eating pleasure.

No matter which kind you buy, look carefully at its complexion—the real background color of the peach skin under its rosy markings. It should be whitish-green or yellowish. If it is dark green, however, the peach may never ripen satisfactorily, but instead, shrivel, be tough and have little flavor.

Avoid peaches with brown spots of peach rot, worm holes and growth cracks. Firm-ripe peaches are usually the best buy. If you plan to eat the fruit the same day, soft-ripe peaches are satisfactory.

To make a peach pie, follow the general method for apple pie. Peach dumplings, always popular, are simple to prepare. For an individual dessert, roll out pastry dough in rounds about the size of a fruit plate. In the center, put a peeled peach with the pit removed. Sprinkle the peach with a mixture of sugar, cinnamon and a few grains of salt. Dot with butter and lift up and press the edges of the dough together. Put in greased muffin tins and bake in moderate oven (350 to 375 degrees F.) for about an hour. Serve very hot with or without sauce or whipped cream.

RIPE PEACH JAM WITH ORANGE
(About 8 glasses, 6 fluid ounces each)

Three and one-half cups prepared fruit, 4 1-2 cups sugar, 1 box powdered fruit pectin, grated rind of one orange.

To prepare fruit, peel about 2 1-2 lbs. fully ripe soft peaches; pit and grind or crush thoroughly.

Measure sugar—to which grated orange rind has been added—into dry dish and set aside until needed. Measure prepared fruit into a 5 or 6-quart kettle, filling up last cup or fraction of cup with water if necessary

Place over hottest fire. Add powdered fruit pectin, mix well, and continue stirring until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once pour in sugar, stirring constantly. (To reduce foaming, 1-4 teaspoon butter may be added.) Continue stirring, bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard one minute. Remove from heat, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jam at once.

MENU

BREAKFAST: Grapefruit and orange juice, oatmeal muffins, bacon, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Toasted whole wheat cheese sandwiches, sliced tomatoes with chopped green peppers and top onions, cup custard, tea, milk.

DINNER: Broiled chopped round steak, lemon butter, mashed potatoes, buttered peas, lettuce salad, peach dumplings, foamy sauce, coffee, milk.

Coffee Eclairs

Dough: Three ounces butter, little sugar, some salt. Boil. Add five and one-half ounces flour. Pour into one cup milk all at once. Stir and beat rapidly on fire until thick velvety dough which pe...ls from spoon and pan. When cool stir in smoothly five whole eggs, one at a time. Put in pastrybag which has proper tube and ...irt dough into eight three and one-half-inch strips, not too close together, on buttered tins (also sprinkle tins with flour). Bake fifteen to twenty minutes in hot oven or until pa...s yellow. (Brush with lightly beaten egg yellow before baking.) Whe... cold, cut open on one side with scissors and fill with:

One tablespoon Admiration coffee, one cup milk. Boil together. Let cool, tightly covered. Strain. In the meantime, stir four egg yolks with one spoon powdered sugar until creamy. ...in one-half tablespoon cornstarch and gradually add milk and coffeee, stirring until smooth.

Ice Eclairs with: Boil sugar until syrup. Let cool ten minutes. Put on marble slab and work with spatula heaping toward center; add sufficient Admiration coffee for flavoring, working all the while. Put in bowl when right consistency and cover with slightly damp cloth.

Corn Flake Crust

1-3 cup butter
¼ cup sugar
1 cup fine corn flake crumbs*

Melt butter in pie pan. Add sugar and crumbs; mix thoroughly. Press mixture evenly and firmly around sides and bottom of pan. Chill before adding filling.

Yield: One 8, 9 or 10-inch shell.
*Roll or grind 4 cups corn flakes to yield 1 cup crumbs.

Coffee Macaroons

1 tablespoon strong Admiration coffee
½ pound almonds
2 cups sugar
4 egg whites

Blanche almonds and grind fine, rub to a paste with Admiration coffee and sugar; add stiffly beaten whites. Drop from teaspoon onto shallow ...ased pans, one inch apart. Decorate tops with bit of candied cherry. Bake in moderate oven one-half hour or until crisp.

Spice Mocha Bars

½ cup strong black Admiration coffee
½ cup shortening
1 cup brown sugar
½ cup molasses
... teaspoon ground spices
2 cups flour
½ teaspoon salt
2½ teaspoons baking powder
Shredded cocoanut
1 egg

Stir the shortening until creamy; work in the egg, sugar, molasses, spices and coffee. Sift together the dry ingredients; beat into the first mixture. Dust good-sized greased pan with cocoanut, pour mixture in, bake about thirty minutes in moderate hot oven. Cool and cut into bars.

Short-Cut Miscellany

After you've baked that cake and are too limp to tackle boiled frosting, why not spread the layers with jelly and sprinkle with shredded canned cocoanut?

Don't neglect canned baked beans. All you have to do to produce a memorable meal is to empty the can into a baking dish, cover with paper thin slices of onion, and stuffed olives wrapped in bacon. Heat until beans are hot and bacon is done.

Spaghetti, also out of a can, is quickly glorified by the addition of tiny cut-up sausages Bake in casserole, covered with cheese.

Fudge Mocha Tart

¾ cup strong black Admiration coffee*
¾ cup butter
1½ cups brown sugar
¾ cup molasses.
¼ teaspoon salt
3 eggs
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon cloves
⅛ teaspoon mace

Cream butter soft, sift in sugar gradually, creaming until light. Add well beaten eggs and molasses. Add salt and spices. Beat well. Add baking powder and flour sifted together. Bake in two layers in moderate oven for thirty minutes. When cold put the following between the layers:

¼ cup strong Admiration coffee
¾ cup milk
⅓ cup sugar
2 egg yolks
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 tablespoon vanilla

Dissolve cornstarch in milk (two tablespoons). Scald rest. Beat egg yolks and sugar together light, add dissolved cornstarch and Admiration coffee. Mix well, add hot milk. Cook in double boiler, stirring constantly until quite thick. Remove from fire, add vanilla. Let cool, and spread between layers. Ice with white icing.

supply priorities and allocations board, headed by Vice-President Wallace, as only a "faltering step forward." He expressed the hope it would work, but he asserted:

"The one thing this picture needs is one-man authority."

Back in World war days, when he headed the war industries board, Baruch had—and used—the fullest power in throwing the nation's entire productive capacity behind the military effort. So successful was he in marshaling industry that Germany's beaten Marshal von Hindenburg admitted "the war was won in the American industrial centers. They understood war." He spoke of the ruthless efficiency with which the war industries board operated.

The president's friend and counsellor made it very clear that he didn't like the administration's pending price control bill. He said he would go before the House banking committee next week to "kick the everlasting life" out of it.

"I believe a universal ceiling should have been put over all prices as soon as they began talking about priorities," Baruch said.

The new contract distribution office will have branches in various states and become one of the most important divisions of OPM, the White House stated.

Its principal duties, as outlined in the official statement, are:

"1. The breaking down of large orders of supplies into smaller units, and spreading the purchases among more firms and in all localities possible.

"2. Providing assistance through the labor division of OPM in retraining and obtaining reemployment for workers who are unemployed as a result of the shutting down of some plants or reduction of their output.

"3. The effective distribution of defense contracts to the smaller business enterprises, as yet largely unused, through an expanded use of sub-contracting, contract distribution, and the pooling of plant facilities.

"4. By providing a staff of industrial and production engineers to formulate and execute specific plans for the conversion of non-defense industries and plants to defense production."

Among other services, the division plans to establish display rooms in various cities, where parts of needed weapons will be available for inspection by prospective sub-contractors. In addition, the new bureau will assist manufacturers in securing financing facilities, through the Reconstruction Finance corporation or regular banks.

At about the same time that Baruch was criticizing price control legislation, Mayor F. H. La Guardia of New York City proposed a method to enforce federal price ceilings. La Guardia, who is president of the United States Conference of Mayors, said that when Price Administrator Leon Henderson certified to him "cases of willful and persistent price ceiling violations," he would call attention of local mayors to the violation and recommend that the offender's municipal license be revoked.

fense developments in army and navy planes.

He praised the efforts of Major-General Simon Bolivar Buchner, commander of Alaskan defense forces, to coordinate the military program in the territory, but said in an interview that officers in Alaska should be given more independent authority to overcome delays. Brewster said that it took two months for Washington officials to clear recommendations of officers on duty in Alaska.

Brewster said troops from the Oregon, Washington, Minnesota, and Alabama national guard were on duty in Alaska in addition to marines and regular army units. He declined to disclose the number of men now at Alaskan stations but said there was "a very substantial number."

Brewster said he would report to Senator Truman, Democrat, Missouri, chairman of the investigating committee, and also to Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, chairman of the naval affairs committee.

He criticized the method of handling shipments of supplies from Seattle to Alaskan army and navy posts. The first shipment reaching one post, he said, was 360 refrigerators, "and the ground is frozen 100 feet deep." The refrigerators arrived even before they had a barracks constructed, he said.

"Then some guns arrived," he added, "with no sights."

Brewster said the army, charged with defending the new navy bases along the outlying regions of Alaska, "still is waiting for the sights."

ARMY SEEKING BILLION MORE FOR EQUIPMENT

on duty with the air forces also were exempted because of the heavy demand for non-flying officers in that branch.

Transfers of the over-age officers now with troops to administrative or staff duty will be carried out gradually over a period of several months, it was said.

Meanwhile the war department was reported already at work on the cases of inefficient officers or those otherwise unsuited for active command of troops. Eventually several hundreds of these may be put on inactive status with the option of resigning if they desire.

It was explained that it will not be necessary to transfer all of the presently over-age officers because a number of them are eligible for promotion to higher grades.

In another move further expected to heighten the morale of enlisted men, the army begins this month releasing the 200,000 soldiers who are expected to be home by Christmas. These include thousands of selectees over 28 years of age.

General Alexander D. Surles, war department chief of public relations, told a press conference yesterday that "there never has been a serious morale situation as many people seem to think."

"But certainly the morale situation as such is on the upgrade all the time," he added.

Air force men were heartened yesterday when the office of production management announced that military aircraft manufacturers delivered 1,854 airplanes during August—394 more than in July and the greatest number produced any month this year.

Division of the ships between the army, navy and Britain was not disclosed. Nor was there a breakdown of the types of planes delivered.

Production of new 90-milimeter anti-aircraft guns will average 61 a month for the next four months, with a much higher output during 1942, Patterson announced.

Thus, a strong line was established directly east of the Almat Seventh corps drawing into a strong position in the Shreveport-Monroe, La., area.

The 33rd Illinois division remained at Haynesville, the 35th, (Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri) division withdrew deeper into Louisiana and the 27th New York division followed.

Meanwhile, Major-General Clarence S. Ridley's Kotmk 5th and 6th divisions, having crossed the Ouachita from Camden to El Dorado, began pursuit of the Almatians.

The British announced a string of successes for their submarines in the Mediterranean, saying a 23,000-ton Italian troop transport was "almost certainly sunk," a tanker and a supply ship sunk, and a 10,000-ton cruiser and a supply ship badly damaged by torpedoes.

The Petain government at Vichy announced it was protesting to the United States against what it called a "lying campaign" in American newspapers against Gaston Henry-Haye, its ambassador to Washington.

Fair Enough

that "civilians guilty of armed robbery in Washington usually spend a small fraction of 10 years behind prison bars." That is the horrible truth of the matter and that, incidentally, is the hell of it, but the reproach is on the courts and juries of Washington which, by their culpable lenity have created in the national capital a crime rate which would be a disgrace to a frontier camp. The penalty for armed robbery should be life, if not death, for any armed man out on a stick-up must be assumed to have murder in his heart, always barring the imaginary case of the desperate father out with a gun to steal the price of a loaf of bread for his starving young.

The imaginary case may be tossed out of consideration for the police of Washington, New York, Chicago or any other city you care to name will not confirm one such ennobled holdup in 10 years but will argue, on the contrary that stick-up men are murderous criminals who should be put away and forgotten so that honest, harmless citizens may pursue life in reasonable safety. But law-abiding men are robbed, wounded, crippled and killed by thousands every year and the cops are made to risk their lives capturing rodents, who then are given seldom more than seven years and usually less on one count while other provable crimes are simply waived. Yet the Washington Post selects that disgraceful failure of justice as a basis on which to argue that the conduct of the army officers is no more sensible than that of the mutineer himself.

While the subject of morale is up, the morale of the officers deserves consideration, too. Some of us seem to think of the American officer as a blundering dope with no patriotism but only vanity in his heart, who lives on the fat of the land and never gets wet feet or chigger-bites. The fact is that most of them are several cuts above the average citizen in active patriotism and very plainly superior to the enlisted men in knowledge of the job of soldiering.

for its investigation and report and there could be no legal strike for 30 days after the report was made.

Leaders of the operating unions reported that a preliminary count on a mail strike authorization vote showed that out of 287,000 votes cast, 283,429 were for a strike and 3,571 against.

On behalf of the non-operating groups, Bert M. Jewell, president of the Railway Employes Department of the American Federation of Labor, and George M. Harrison, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad and Steamship Clerks, issued a statement saying that the strike majorities in their unions were from 95 to 100 per cent of the membership.

"This action was taken," their statement added, "in order to bring into play the last remaining machinery of the railway labor act for adjustment of railway labor disputes."

The five big operating unions have demanded a 30 per cent boost in basic rates of pay for their members, of which the lowest paid, switch tenders, now receive $5.06 a day.

Increases ranging from 30 to 24 cents an hour have been demanded by the 14 non-operating unions. Present minimums in this group are 35 cents an hour for semi-skilled work and 85 cents for highly skilled.

LOSES JOB BECAUSE HIS DAUGHTER SPY

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Because his pretty 18-year-old daughter was arrested in an alleged axis spy plot Karl Boehmler has lost the $35-a-week job he held in a laundry for 12 years

His daughter, Lucy, and two men, Hans Pagel, 19, and Frederick Schlosser, 20, pleaded guilty to a charge of conspiring to gather and send to Germany information vital to national defense.

When Boehmler arrived at the laundry where he had never missed a day at work, William C. Eisenhardt, vice-president, told him he was discharged.

"Boehmler is no longer in our employ because we do not want anyone in our plant who is associated with a person connected with spying activities," Eisenhardt told reporters.

"We are strictly an American plant and will not countenance such things."

SEEKS ENEMY U-BOAT WHICH ATTACKED SHIP

latively short time yesterday morning or were spaced at intervals.

He left little doubt that he approved the action of the commander in taking immediate steps against the submarine by dropping powerful depth charges.

Mr. Roosevelt said it was very fortunate the destroyer was not hit, remarking that it was beyond his power to say why the aim of the submarine was so poor. He would not disclose whether the undersea craft's periscope was above water, declaring he could not talk about that.

"As a landlubber to a sea expert," a reporter inquired, "is it possible for a submarine to make a mistake in broad daylight at torpedo distance?"

Mr. Roosevelt said he would put the explanation this way:

If a submarine had a periscope above the surface there is no excuse for a wrong identification. Most torpedoes, he said, are fired by means of a visual sight.

However, almost all naval vessels, including German and Italian, he added, have listening devices and it is possible to fire at a sound. This method is not nearly as accurate.

Mr. Roosevelt dismissed as hypothetical a question on how he would classify the Greer incident as regards "a shooting war."

To an inquiry whether it was possible for a ship to be on the American side of the Atlantic and at the same time in a belligerent zone proclaimed by Germany, the chief executive said this country never had been notified of the establishment of such a zone. A blockade is never recognized, he added, if it is ineffective.

To a further question, whether the Greer had behaved in accord with instructions and policy in dropping depth charges immediately, the president suggested there was no information to the contrary. He asked his questioner what he would do if attacked.

The president himself brought up the attack on the Greer to open his press conference, telling reporters that he knew they would all be asking about it. He had whispered for a moment first with his naval aide, Captain John R. Beardall.

The president said he had a couple of thoughts on the attack as a result of listening to one or two broadcasts and reading one or two things said by people in Washington. These people reminded him of the father in what he said was an allegorical story.

Once upon a time, at a place where he was living, Mr. Roosevelt related, some country children were on the way to school and some undisclosed person fired at them from the bushes. The father took the position there was nothing to do about it, no reason to search the bushes or take any other steps, because the children had not been hit.

The torpedoes fired at the U. S. S. Greer in yesterday's daylight attack missed their mark, but officials believed that they might have far-reaching consequences in determining the navy's future strategy in the north Atlantic.

For the moment, the state department had nothing to say, and the navy department declined to amplify the laconic three-sentence communique which announced the attack on the Greer—a flush-deck, four-stacker of World war construction, identical in appearance with the destroyers traded to Britain.

The fact that the Greer has the same silhouette as the ships now serving with the royal navy led to the belief that she might have been mistaken for a British vessel. Some of these already have been damaged or sunk by enemy action.

However, the mistaken identity theory was not universally accepted. Navy men pointed out that the Greer flew the stars and stripes, and one veteran submarine officer was satisfied that the attack was made during daylight.

"You can't see a torpedo track at night," he said, indicating he had reasons to believe that the Greer used the tell-tale feathery wake of the torpedoes to rush to the spot where she dumped her depth bombs.

The submarine's identity was temporarily a mystery, and there was no certainty that a subsequent report from the Greer would add further information, for the action at sea apparently was fast and short-lived.

Berlin almost immediately disclaimed all knowledge of the attack. London, on the other hand, was ready to blame the incident on a Nazi U-boat.

As far as the United States navy was concerned, only this much was released:

"The navy department announced that the U. S. S. Greer, en route to Iceland with mail, reported this morning that a submarine attacked her by firing torpedoes which missed their mark. The Greer immediately counter attacked with depth charges.

"Results unknown."

Not even the location of the attack was indicated.

Lacking a more complete report, members of congress were cautious but apprehensive in appraising the clash at sea. They counseled the public against forming hasty opinions, and expressed the belief that incident was not of sufficient magnitude to plunge the country into war.

There was much conjecture, however, whether the Thursday morning attack represented the initiative of a single submarine commander, or whether it presaged the beginning of an intensified undersea campaign that would respect no nationality in the north Atlantic shipping lanes.

Upon the occupation of Iceland early in July, President Roosevelt specifically issued orders to the navy "that all necessary steps be taken to insure the safety of communications in the approaches between Iceland and the United States, as well as on the seas between the United States and all other strategic outposts."

However, part of the ocean that must be traversed to reach Iceland lies within the Nazi-designated war zone which Germany extended westward this spring almost to the coastal waters of Greenland. The United States does not recognize the German right to proscribe such a zone, but Berlin has officially posted the waters as dangerous.

In fact, Adolf Hitler on three different occasions this year has served notice in his speeches that his U-boats would torpedo any ships that came before their periscopes if the ship represented aid to Britain.

Ever since the operations of the navy's Atlantic patrol were first disclosed early this spring, axis capitals have been hostile in their reaction. Berlin, Rome and even Tokyo have found occasion to condemn the patrol variously as provocative, near-belligerent, and an invitation to incidents.

The state legislature at its biennial session last year made voting machines mandatory in New Orleans, the city and state to pay half the cost of purchasing the machines, and optional in the remainder of the state.

Previous attempts by the state to advance money to the city to pay its share of the machines have been under court attacks.

Installation of voting machines to promote "honest elections" was a campaign issue last year when Governor Sam Jones was elected.

Mayor Maestri's statement follows:

"I am gratified to be able to announce that a plan has been worked out which will make available the city's full portion of the cost of voting machines on a basis that so far as anything the city government is able to do, will make it possible to have the machines in operation for the forthcoming municipal election.

"This plan is embodied in a motion adopted by the commission council at a special meeting today, and is in the form of a joint commitment and a public pledge by all the members of the commission council to provide in the budget of 1942, when that budget is written in November, an appropriation of $200,000 for the city's portion of the purchase price of the voting machines.

"This means that the full amount in cash will be available immediately after January 1—and by 'immediately,' I mean a day or two.

"This, in addition to the $25,000 which the city already has turned over to the state, will provide for the municipality's full one-half of the cost of the voting machines.

"Under this plan, the city is thus able to finance its share of the purchase price on what amounts to a cash basis.

"In spite of the violent efforts in some quarters to distort and misrepresent the city's position and to question its motive in connection with the voting machines, the fact remains that the looseness with which the voting machine legislation was drawn and the unfortunate manner in which the entire situation has since been handled, can, in no way, be attributed to the city, for that entire matter has been in the hands of the state.

"Out of it all has come the maze of litigation and legal opinions which have raised difficulties and beclouded the whole issue.

"I am advised, however, that there is nothing in the law or in the rulings of the courts in the matter, which prohibits the members of the commission council from adopting the plan which has been approved today, and which boils down to the fact, that, without violating any restrictions imposed upon it, the city government is making available its entire portion of the cost.

"In other words, the city is providing its full one-half share of the cost, which is twice as much as the state now has appropriated to pay its portion.

"Under the law, the state, not the city, is charged with the actual purchase of the machines.

"The council's action today means, therefore, that if the state is able to proceed with the purchase of the voting machines, it can do so, with the full assurance that the city's full portion of the cost will be ready, cash on the barrel-head, before the machines are installed."

JONES ASSERTS LOAN FAVORED

agencies would be unable to expend their funds by September 15 and a great part of the state government would then have been stymied.

Governor Jones announced that returns already in from the legislative poll showed a count of 68 votes of approval to four against among house members and 24 favoring the loan in the senate to none against it in the upper chamber.

"The Old Regulars in New Orleans have not been heard from," Jones said in his statement.

"It is apparent that the people of Louisiana do not propose to be dictated to by the mayor of New Orleans.

"The whole scheme to stop welfare payments and close hospitals was diabolic and unthinkable. The people of this state are thoroughly aroused over the nefarious designs of a wilful group of corrupt politicians.

"When politicians are willing to punish the needy, the hungry, the sick and disabled they have come to the end of their row. The people won't stand for this."

jects and other industries and have succeeded in those missions. Political criticism and bickering are costly to the business of the state. If we can stop those things and get down to business there is no telling how far Louisiana can go."

Urging that the state be prepared to stabilize itself after "the boom is over," Governor Jones recommended that more people be encouraged to stay on farms.

"Statistics show that the state has lost 30,000 farms between 1930 and 1940, or 3,000 a year. We must do something to keep more families on the farms. For one thing, we are considering a guinea pig experiment in which WPA workers would be placed on farms in three parishes. Our idea is to have the WPA men work for their own living on those farms for seven months out of the year and then give them WPA aid for five months."

Preceding his talk, Governor Jones introduced several members of his "official family" accompanying him to Ruston. They included Roland Cochreham, his secretary; G. T. Owen, director of the bureau of commerce and industry; Newt Ogden, director of occupational standards; F. J. Whitehead, chairman of the state board of tax appeals; Henry Cain, chairman of the state tax commission; Dan E. Moore, secretary of the tax commission; J. H. Trousdale, tax commission attorney; Ed Rice of the state relations department; J. H. Cassidy, secretary of the casualty commission; DeWitt L. Pyburn, director of public works; Eugene Conway of the casualty department, and Wilfred Begnaud, state banking commissioner.

J. C. Love, master of ceremonies at the dinner, presented several army officers temporarily quartered here. They were Brigadier-General Joseph H. Lewis, Lieutenant-Colonel J. A. Person, Major C. W. Siegert, Captain A. H. Siegert, Lieutenant-Colonel John Kaster, Captain George Van Cleve and Lieutenant J. A. Porter.

as a cross section of the new civilian army. The Fifth includes selectees from Michigan, southern Wisconsin, Northern Illinois and Indiana. The Sixth is known as "the boiling pot" of the western Mississippi valley, including soldiers from every state from the Dakotas to Louisiana.

Reviewing 24 hours of action that saw his soldiers capture and cross the strategic Ouachita river in south Arkansas, routing Blue "national guard" outfits from New York, Illinois, Tennessee, Ohio, Missouri, Kansas, and Nebraska, General Ridley smiled:

"They are a fine type of men, these men of the Fifth and Sixth," he said "Like all selectees, they are learning fast. They are intensely interested. Above all, they have high spirit.

"They were anxious to cross that river and start chasing the Blues. They wanted to get started before we were ready for the crossing to be made, and that in spite of the drenching rain that mired the swamp roads along the river banks, setting up the most trying field conditions. But when the test came, there was no confusion.

"They made that river crossing, stealthily, at night, with a smoothness that indicates the spirit of both divisions.

"These men have been through a hard test in these maneuvers. They traversed hundreds of miles to reach the area. They have experienced night marches, loss of sleep, downpours of rain, and the necessity for fast and efficient movement over a difficult terrain. I am thoroughly pleased with them."

ARMERS URGED TO ORGANIZE

r Recommenda- e Farm Bureau By AAA Director

NF ott nd n- n hal fa ers in Louisiana was ley R. N. Amacker, president Louisian. Farm Bureau Friday hing at a meeting of 500 farm and women from 16 northeast isiana parishes at Hotel Frances e.

The time is opportune to organize their economic self-protection," dared Mr. Amacker. "We have the able-hearted support of the agri- ural extension service and other cies and it is imperative that the ners of Louisiana have a strong anization in order to have a voice the formation of agricultural legis- on."

W. Duggan, director of the south- division, AAA, discussed the s of agriculture in the national nse emergency, warned the farm- against the "pitfalls" that followed first World war and asserted that must do all in our power to head inflation and its attendant dis- rs."

doubt very much," Duggan said, t our democratic form of govern- t can survive another crack-up as the one we suffered in the 's when inflation swept us to the k of ruin."

cautioning against inflation, Mr. ggan said however that the farm- "sacrifices should be no greater n those of other groups.

Before the present emergency," he , "all that agriculture sought was ality with labor and industry. equality continues to be the of American farmers."

asserted that farmers had never ed for more than economic equal- with other groups and that "no uine democracy can withhold" n them less than such equality.

Farmers are much nearer to their of equality with other groups n they have been for years," he said. "One of the reasons is the growth of farm organizations. Farmers must be well organized, just as other groups in this country are well organized. Farm organizations must grow in numbers, for in numbers there is strength.

"Your organization today can look back on many definite achievements in the interest of the farmers. No small part of the credit is yours that farmers in general are better off at the present moment than at any time since 1929."

The program included addresses by H. C. Sanders state extension director, Dean J. G. Lee, Jr., of the L. S. U. college of agriculture, and R. G. Arnold, director of organization, southern division, American Farm Bureau Federation. Other participants in the program included Miss Nan Tarwater, district home demonstration agent, C. W. Davis, district agent, S. M. Jackson, state director of vocational agriculture teachers, Milton C. Tainter, secretary-manager of the Louisiana Farm Bureau, and C. E. Kemmerley, organization specialist of the L. S. U. extension service.

Parishes represented at the meeting were Ouachita, East Carroll, West Carroll, Madison, Tensas, Concordia, Catahoula, LaSalle, Franklin, Richland, Morehouse, Union, Lincoln, Jackson, Caldwell and Claiborne.

Plans were made by the meeting participants to return to the individual parishes to formulate stronger parish farm bureau organizations as soon as possible.

Mr. Amacker pointed out that Louisiana should certainly secure as many memberships as possible and that the goal for Louisiana had been set for at least 20,000 members in the American Farm Bureau in 1941.

Seal With Three Degrees Has Star Billing In Circus

Buddy, versatile performing seal of Russell Bros.' circus, keeps apace of the day's news with his trainer, Walter Jennier.

Buddy the Seal, A.B., M.A., Ph.D., just goes to show what a success a fellow can be despite a college education.

Buddy, who will be seen with Russell Bros.' Greater American Circus at the Plum street show grounds in Monroe Monday, September 8, is a graduate magna cum laude of the famous Jennier Seal College at Kingston, N. Y., where all the better performing seals get their schooling. That alphabet after his name hasn't turned Buddy's head a bit. What might be construed as a snooty manner comes from the deft way he has of balancing things on his nose.

Taking up Buddy's degrees in order —A.B. in Seal College terminology means "Artist of Balance." In such advanced accomplishments as walking the tight wire, going up and down stairs on his front fins, and balancing on one fin, Buddy has no equal.

M.A. is for "Master of Articulation." Buddy is without doubt the most articulate seal ever before the public. Not only does he give lusty voice to the Seal College yell, but he carries on conversations with his mentor and imitates famous personages.

"Doctor of Philharmonics" is what the Ph.D. behind Buddy's name stands for. Other seals there have been that play musical horns, but none with the virtuosity that Buddy displays.

Strictly speaking, Buddy isn't a seal at all, but a sea lion, being a native of the waters off Catalina Island. He and the prexy of his alma mater, Walter Jennier, have been with Russell Bros.' Circus before. They are back this season by popular demand after a round of Sportsmen's Shows in leading cities during the winter.

Sharing honors with some of circusdom's most celebrated features, Buddy will be seen in afternoon and night performances, starting at 2 and 8 p.m., with doors opening at 1 and 7.

2 SERVICE STATIONS BURGLARIZED HERE

Burglary of two local service stations was being investigated Friday morning by police here, according to Acting Chief B. L. Brantley.

More than $11 in cash reportedly was taken from the service station at 101 Ouachita avenue some time Thursday night, the chief stated. Charles Baur, 1010 North Fourth street, manager, reported the theft. Investigating officers said the intruder entered through a north window.

Thirty pennies and three packages of cigarettes were reported missing from the service station at 801 Jackson street, entered Thursday night through a north window, police stated.

COLLEGE STAFF HOLDS MEETING

Dean Colvert Conducts First Faculty Session Here Today

The first event of the new semester at Northeast Junior college was held Friday at 3 p.m. when the dean, Dr. C. C. Colvert, conducted his first faculty meeting. Most of the faculty members were present but several have yet to return from their vacations.

Dean and Mrs. Colvert will entertain the faculty with a barbecue at their home, Friday at 7:30 p.m. and there will be another faculty meeting held Saturday at 10 a.m.

There will be several additions to the college staff, but for the most part former members will continue in their various capacities.

The dean stated that he is at this time unable to predict as to the number who will enroll for the fall semester as many young people have obtained positions and some have enlisted in the army. However, with improved economic conditions prevailing, it is possible that more students than ever before will enroll.

Five buses have been arranged for in connection with transportation facilities to and from college daily. One bus will start from Oak Grove, one from Tallulah, another from Urania, one from Wisner and the fifth from Jones-Bonita.

ODD SPECIFICATIONS FOR COOKS ARE MADE

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 5.—(AP)—People who hire cooks, the Louisiana state employment service reported today, can think up plenty of specifications which have nothing to do with the density of biscuits or discretion in the use of garlic.

For instance the Higgins Industries, Inc., of New Orleans wanted a seagoing cook no taller than five feet six inches. The powerful little boats Higgins manufactures and delivers to the navy on the east coast just don't have clearance in the galley for a taller hasher. And the crews that deliver the boats have to be fed on the eastward trip.

The service found the man and another (size unspecified) for a New Orleans yacht owner.

An officers' mess in an army camp outside Louisiana put in a request for a creole chef. The service filled the order and then turned right around and placed a Chinese cook in New Orleans, citadel of creole cooking.

CHIEF BRANTLEY WARNS MOTORISTS

Rigid enforcement of city traffic regulations will be carried out by the traffic division during the maneuver period, Police Chief B. L. Brantley announced Friday morning.

Warning motorists to drive carefully and cooperate with city, state and military police during troop movements, Chief Brantley stated that violations of traffic ordinances will be punished. The 25-mile speed limit will be effective all over the city, and in congested areas a slower rate should be adopted, he said.

FRENCH JUDGE REMOVED

VICHY, Unoccupied France, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Judge Paul Didier, 62-year-old veteran Paris magistrate who refuesd Wednesday to swear allegiance to Marshal Petain under a new constitutional act of the Vichy government, was removed from the bench today. The new act requires all magistrates to take an oath of personal fealty to Petain.

FANS ADVISED TO PREPARE FOR SUBWAY SERIES

DODGERS SEEN AS OPPONENTS OF YANK TEAM

New Yorkers Bomb Way To League Champion By Smashing Boston

By Judson Bailey
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Today's best advice for baseball fans is to get your nickels ready for a subway series—the New York Yankees have clinched the American league pennant and the Brooklyn Dodgers have been handed the National league lead on a big, brimming platter.

The Yanks bombed their way to their fifth championship in six years yesterday by smashing the Boston Red Sox, 6-3, with a 10-hit assault on two of Boston's best pitchers, Dick Newsome and Mickey Harris, while Atley Donald was holding the Red Sockers in check on five safeties.

The New Yorkers thus achieved their 91st victory against 45 defeats for a 20-game lead over the Chicago White Sox—who regained exclusive possession of second place through the crumpling of the Red Sox.

The triumph, which put the Yanks out of reach of all rivals clinched the pennant at the earliest date in American league history.

All this was no surprise to anyone. The noise like distant thunder heard in the major leagues yesterday was the St. Louis Cardinals crashing in a double header at Chicago, 3-0 and 4-3.

The Redbirds were presented with the same kind of golden opportunity Brooklyn had fumbled on Wednesday. On that day St. Louis was rained out and the Dodgers had a chance to take charge of the senior circuit by padding the last-place Phillies in a double header. Brooklyn divided the contests and left the Cards on top of the league.

Yesterday it was Brooklyn that was rained into idleness and the Cardinals who played a double header with the same huge reward at stake. But they not only muffed the opportunity, their double defeat dropped them one full game back of Brooklyn.

The Cardinals started two of their finest pitchers, Lon Warneke, fresh from his no-hitter at Cincinnati, and the skillful Mort Cooper, but each had to be removed in the fourth inning.

Claude Passeau, a great clutch hurler for the sixth-place Cubs, shut out St. Louis, 3-0, on five hits in the opener. Chicago collected one run in the first, one in the second and another in the fourth and the no-hit relief pitching of Max Lanier and Howard Krist from that point on was not sufficient to change the outcome.

The nightcap was a bitter battle that went 11 innings and was decided by the Cardinals' most glaring weakness—uncertain fielding. The Redbirds made five errors, and on the last Outfielder Don Padgett dropped a fly ball to let in the winning run after Stan Hack had walked and gone to third on a single by Lou Stringer. The score was 4-3.

Cooper was wild at the start and let the Cubs score single runs in each of the first three innings. St. Louis again received fine relief pitching to no avail, Howard Pollet and Lanier hurling seven scoreless innings.

Paul Erickson went the route for the Cubs and, after giving St. Louis two runs in the second, allowed only one other tally— a homer by Johnny Mizes in the sixth. Babe Dahlgren hit his 20th of the season in the second for Chicago.

The Pittsburgh Pirates closed the gap between them and the third-place Reds to a half-game by beating Cincinnati again, 4-0, before rain halted play in the last of the fifth. Rip Sewell held the world champions to one hit over this abbreviated distance while the Pirates pelted Bucky Walters for five.

Bob Feller finally got his 20th triumph, but it took a three-run rally in the tenth inning by his Cleveland Indians to nose out Detroit, 7-6. The Tigers scored twice in their half of the tenth.

DOUBLE DEFEAT AT CUBS' HANDS STAGGERS CARDS

Idle Dodgers Take National Lead As St. Louis Falls, 3-0 And 4-3

CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—(AP)—The pennant pursuing St. Louis Cardinals were knocked out of the National league leadership Thursday by dropping a pair of heart-breaking games to the Chicago Cubs, 3 to 0, and 4 to 3. The last game went 11 innings.

The double defeat dropped the Cardinals to a full game behind the rained-out Brooklyn Dodgers.

The dramatic second game was broken up as shadows were beginning to engulf Wrigley field and the umpires were considering calling the game because of darkness.

With the score tied at 3 to 3 and one out, Barney Olsen, a rookie Cub outfielder lifted a high fly ball to left field which Don Padgett attempted to grab but dropped. Stanley Hack, who had walked and reached third on Lou Stringer's single, raced home with the winning run to the cheers of 19,303 spectators, 6,500 of whom were women guests.

The double defeat saw the collapse of two of the Cardinals' ace starting pitchers—Lon Warneke, and Morton Cooper. Warneke, making his first start after pitching a no-hit game against Cincinnati, failed to survive four innings in the first game, after allowing the Cubs their three runs. He was touched for six hits and gave five bases on balls. Cooper also was relieved under pressure of hits and wildness.

VICKSBURG TO MEET MONROE IN FIRST TILT

Invaders Beat Locals, 8-3; Helena Drops Twin Bill To Greenville

The Vicksburg Hill Billies took advantage of Skipper Doug Taitt's conservation policy last night to gain an 8-to-3 decision over the Monroe White Sox in the last game of the Cotton States league's schedule here.

While Manager Al Baker, hurling for the Bills, kept the Sox' bats fairly well silenced, his Hill City crew went to work on four Monroe hurlers, including two regular pitchers, the first baseman and an outfielder, for thirteen safe blows.

After the Bills had cornered two unearned runs off Will Reeder and five off Major Bowles, both regular moundsmen, Manager Taitt, in an effort to conserve his pitching strength for the series beginning tomorrow, gave First Baseman Pete Medak and Outfielder Dale Englehorn turns on the mound.

Monroe fans celebrated the occasion as "Taitt Night" and turned out one of the largest crowds of the season in their apprecation for Taitt's work in bringing Monroe its third straight Cotton States pennant. A cash donation, pooled by Monroe fans, was presented to Taitt during the game.

The victory enabled Vicksburg to finish in fourth place, three games ahead of the Helena Seaporters.

The 'Porters lost two mighty close games to the Greenville Buckshots at Greenville last night, dropping the first game, 2 to 1, and the second, 4 to 3. The twin victory put Greenville in third place. Vicksburg finished half a game behind the Bucks.

As the result of last night's games, Monroe will open the championship series here tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock at Casino park with the Vicksburg Bills. Greenville will go to Hot Springs for the three-out-of five preliminary playoff.

The Bills took the lead with two unearned runs in the first inning last night. With one out, Keith bobbled Pat Henry's grounder. Ray Zimmerman flied out to Hill. Clary Hack walked. Fred Reinhart grounded to Eagar who motioned to throw to second, but Keith failed to cover the bag in time to force Hack. Eddie Checkley then singled into center field, scoring Henry and Hack.

Reeder, after allowing only three hits and fanning five, was relieved after four innings. Bowles opened the fifth by serving up a single to Don Merusi, and before the inning was over Zimmerman, Reinhart and Checkley had also hit safely to send two more runs across the plate.

Bowles fanned the first batter to face him in the sixth, but the next three, Baker, Merusi and Henry hit in order. Henry's blow, a double, scored Baker, and Medak was sent to Bowles' relief. Medak's first pitch was wild, allowing Merusi to score, and Zimmerman went out to right field, Henry scoring after the catch. Then an error and a hit put two men on bases, and Englehorn succeeded Medak. Englehorn finished the game, allowing two hits and one run.

The run off Englehorn came in the eighth when he walked Zimmerman who scored on a double by Hack.

Bowles, who went into the outfield after his turn on the mound, scored first for the locals in the eighth when he tripled into right center and scored on Hill's single.

The Sox scored twice more in the ninth. Joe Dooley walked and went to second on Medak's fluke single past short. A double by Ernie Potocar scored Dooley and Medak.

DRAFT GETS TWO MORE BULLDOGS

Witt Vascocu And Milton Clavier Lost To Louisiana Tech, Says Aillet

RUSTON, La., Sept. 5.—(Special)—Two football players upon whom the Louisiana Tech coaches had pinned high hopes now seem to be slated to join seven other Techmen in army service.

Head Coach Joe Aillet disclosed Thursday that the two, only ones on the roster of 35 Bulldogs failing to report for practice this week, are Witt Vascocu of Minden and Milton (Monk) Clavier of New Orleans. They most likely will be "caught in the draft," he said.

Vascocu, a 240-pound senior and alternate captain of the Techsters, would have been the only varsity-experienced right tackle available to the Bulldog squad this fall.

Clavier, a sophomore left halfback and all-state product of Warren Easton High school, New Orleans, had been counted upon to work with James Tinsley of Haynesville and Johnny Perritt of Tyler, Tex.

While the absence of both gridders will be keenly felt, Coach Aillet expressed deeper regrets over the absence of Vascocu, for the line already had suffered heavy losses. The mentor of the forward wall, Cecil Crowley, now will have at his command but five linemen from last year's varsity, including Captain Garland Gregory, Columbia, left guard; Frank Bishop, Birmingham, Ala., right guard; Ed Roberts, left tackle, Goodman, Miss.; John Laughlin, Bloomfield, Ind., left end, and Tag Yarbrough, Arcadia, right end. There is no experienced center on the list, but two candidates from the 1940 Tech squad, Jim Allen of Camden, Ark., and Hays Fleming of Ferriday, are showing promise.

Coach Aillet commended the morale of the Techmen and praised their progress at mid week.

DODGERS PUT FATE IN VETERAN HANDS

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 5.—(AP)—All this talk about how the St. Louis Cardinals are going to be swept to the National league pennant on the strength of their youngsters leaves the Brooklyn Dodgers as cold as a gold digger's heart.

This," one of the Dodgers pointed out Thursday as rain washed out the game with the Phillies, "is a hot pennant fight—and a pip, too. It is not a kindergarten class. So, when you come right down to it, you need steady veterans in a tough stretch drive and that's us."

In the past week or so, the Brooklyns have given more indication than ever that they're going to put their case in older hands for the race to the wire. Manager Leo the Lip Durocher has oiled up his ancient legs and inserted himself at shortstop in a couple of games in place of young Pewee Reese, and Pete Reiser, the freshman flailing star, sat out a game or two, watching veterans like Dixie Walker and Ducky (Don't Call Me Muscles) Medwick tour the outer gardens.

But more than these incidental shifts, the Gowanus gang figures the wise pitching heads and experienced elbowing equipment of the No. 1 and No. 2 guns of their firing squad—Whitey Wyatt and Kirby Highe—give them an edge over the Cards, who have to rely on the freshman pair of Ernie White and Howard Pollett. Whitey and Kirby, the Brooklyns tell you, have been around long enough t know all the answers.

Of course, the Cards also have a guy named Lon Warneke, the lean no-hitter, but the Dodgers point out that before Lon's last two route-going jobs he was belted out of the box three straight times.

COURSE RECORD SET BY DODSON

Kansas City Pro Leads In $11,000 Tam O'Shanter Golf Tourney

CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Professional golf's story-telling "gamboleer"—fast shooting, fast talking Leonard Dodson of Kasas City—did a record smashing job as he stole the show Thursday in the opening act of the year's richest championship—the $11,000 Tam O'Shanter Open.

Dodson, the 39-year-old Missourian whose locker-room yarns and trick shot wagers are legendary in the sport, waited until scores of better-known stars had been posted. Then he came in with a blazing 65 that gave him the first round lead by two strokes and the competitive record for the Tam O'Shanter layout by one stroke.

The 65 was seven under par. Built on nines of 31, five under regulation figures, and 34, two under par, it gave the Kansas City Country club professional a decision over one of the fastest fields assembled for any tournamed this season—one which included such greats as Craig Wood, National Open champion, Byron Nelson and Ben Hogan.

Dodson, a happy-go-lucky chap who'll wager on anything pertaining t his game and who has won many a bet playing on one leg or from a wheelchair, had one bogie on his card, a five at the first hole. Then he reeled off an eagle, six birdies and 10 pars. His short game was deadly an' he used only 23 putts for his round. His best previous performance this year was in the Oakland Open, which he won on a playoff from Hogan and Dutch Harrison.

Dodson's great job gave him a two shot edge on Byron Nelson of Toledo, former National Open and P. G. A. champion, whose 67 was constructed on nines of 34-33.

Nelson, one of the field's hot favorites, had an eagle, four birdies and one bogie on his round. At 68 was big Johnny Bulla of Chicago, who had 34 shots on each nine.

From this point on the field was well strung out, with long shots as numerous as the "name" players in the sub-par classification. Dick Metz of Chicago and big Ralph Guldahl, twice former National Open champion, were among the 69 shooters. Craig Wood, current National Open king, had a 71, while Ben Hogan, leading money winner of the year, could not get going and wound up with a 73, one over par. Vic Ghezzi, the P. G. A. champion was one of the 70 shooters.

Eighteen hole rounds will be played daily through Sunday's final test. First money is $2,000, with no fewer than 30 cash awards of the long prize list.

VANDY COACH SAYS PLAYER 'SNATCHED'

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Henry R. (Red) Sanders, Vanderbilt football coach, said Thursday he had complained by telephone to Mike Conner, Southeastern Conference commissioner, concerning the transfer to Georgia Tech of a freshman football player who had practiced two days with the Commodore freshman squad.

Sanders confirmed locally published reports that John Bell, tackle prospect from Kingsport, Tenn., disappeared Tuesday night from the dormitory where the frosh squad is quartered after registering, choosing his subjects and participating in Vanderbilt's first two drills, only later to turn up as a member of the Georgia Tech first-year squad.

The Vanderbilt coach indicated, however, that he held little hope that the commissioner would act on his verbal complaint. Sanders said he now understood that freshmen players' regulations, under a conference rule, should be effective as of the opening date set out in a school's catalogue.

"We register all our boys," said Sanders, "but it seems we've been under a misapprehension as to the rule."

YANKS CLINCH LOOP PENNAN IN AMERICA

Bronx Bombers Win 5 Flag In Six Years With 6-3 Win Over Bosox

BOSTON, Sept. 5.—(AP)—The steamroller New York Yankees smashed through the Boston Red Sox 6 to 3 Thursday to clinch their fifth American league pennant in six years.

Out of the king row for only a season while the rest of the league tried to "break up the Yankees" legislation, New York recaptured championship with the biggest margin and at the earliest date in the history of the league.

Their sweep of the two game series with the Red Sox, who were in second place till the Yankees came to town, gave New York a record of 91 victories and 45 defeats for a percentage of .669 and a lead of 20 games over the Chicago White Sox, who moved into second place even though idle.

It was a great triumph for Manager Joe McCarthy, though the chief strategist was not present for the clincher. He started the season with material that, in the opinion of many observers, was no better than the talent of some of his rivals.

The proud Yankees sank to fifth place in the first month of the season and on May 25 were seven games behind the crusty Cleveland Indians.

But McCarthy was experimenting and he found the right solution. He put Rookie Johnny Sturm on first, returned Joe Gordon to his familiar second base station, and established Phil Rizzuto, fiery little freshman at shortstop.

The team started gaining ground late in May and by June 28 was powerful enough to take over first place permanently. It broke the heart of its only real rivals, the Indians, by winning 12 of its first 16 games from the Tribe. And eventually the pennant race became a farce and the Yanks possibly could have clinched the issue sooner if they had needed to.

EENIES LOOK TO JIM THIBAUT

w Orleans Gridder Expected To Carry Burden Of Offensive

:W ORLEANS, Sept. 5.—(AP)—ne's Green Wave, refuting the ge that its brightest stars are orted from the Midwestern steel s and grain fields, looks to a l boy this year—Jim Thibaut—to y its offensive burden.

is 195-pound fullback gained the of the "human tank" last season his bruising charges, which were ng the very few things Tulane had to cheer about. And all indions are that his attacks will be n more potent this season.

hibaut (pronounced Tee-bo) shed opposing lines for more than net yards in 1940, and had an rage of 3.2 yards per trip. That rage looks more and more impos- when you consider Tulane's team rage was only 3.3, and Jim got his stly through the middle where foes re thickest—in size and number. Moreover, yardage lost attempting pass was charged against his running—so his ball-carrying average was really a good bit above 3.2.

With another year of experience and physical development, Jim should generate at least as much power this season; and it looks as though he'll have a better line to help him along.

Tulane's 1940 line sagged badly in the middle when Tommy O'Boyle and Claude Groves, guards expected to be towers of strength, were injured and sidelined during most of the campaign. The boys who took their places were green and ineffective at first, but learned plenty and were playing good ball later on. And they'll be back in force this year.

What's more, big Harley McCollum, All-America in 1939 and ineligible last year, will be back at right tackle with his vicious blocking.

MERIDIAN GETS ZACHAR FROM SYRACUSE CHIEFS

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 5.—(AP)—The Syracuse Chiefs of the International league have recalled eight young players who spent the 1941 season with other clubs.

He added that the Chiefs will not recall Billy Baker, young outfielder who has been on option with the Fort Lauderale club of the Florida East Coast league.

FOUR BENGALS INACTIVE AS RESULT OF INJURIES

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 5.—(AP)—From blisters to muscle pulls, minor injuries typical of opening sessions had four Bengals inactive Thursday as Louisiana State University continued football practice at stiff conditioning pace.

Regular Fullback Walter Gorinski developed blisters from his new shoes and dropped out midway in Thursday's session, while Sonny Richardson moved up into his place. Reldon Bennett, sophomore tackle, was out with a pulled muscle, J. C. Winfield, soph guard, with a bad charley horse and Billy McKinney, currently the squad's No. 1 tailback, with a sore foot.

SCORES ON DODGERS' ERRORS

Sebastian Sisti (center), Boston Braves third baseman, is safe at home on this play in the second inning of the first game of a Labor day double header with Brooklyn at New York. Sisti advanced on Gremp's grounder to Lavagetto at third. Lavagetto threw wild to Camilli at first and Gremp was safe at first. Sisti dashed for home and scored when Dodger Catcher Mickey Owen (left) failed to reach Camilli's bad throw. Max West (4) of the Braves watches. Brooklyn won that game 6 to 5.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Sid Feder
(Pinch-Hitting for Eddie Brietz)

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—(News-Star Special News Service)—Not since Wrong-Down Getchell and Fifth-Down Friesell has there been a blast such as the sports writers are letting loose on the new collegiate grid substitution rule. . . . The pros used it in the all-star contests here and in Chicago, and showed just how foolish the unlimited subs can make a game look. . . . In the one here the other night, one of the New York Giants was in and out of the game 17 times—and there were so many guys running on and off the field that the officials were thinking of sending for a traffic cop.

HOT HASH

There'll be some news busting in the next week or two about a certain major league franchise. . . . Joe Louis' whole fisiic family is burned up at guys who think that the Bomber's slipping because he sought a postponement for the first time in his career. . . . And Co-Manager Julian Black comes right out in meeting with the prediction that Joe'll stiffen Lou Nova—but good. . . . Curly Lambeau took one look at Howie Yeager, who graduated from Santa Barbara to the N. Y. pro Giants, and tabbed him the best open-field runner the National loop has seen. . . . Jersey fight fans are tossing welterweight Bob Red Cochrane a big feed next Wednesday. . . . Cubs have their eyes on Otto Denning, the first baseman-catcher at Minneapolis.

REVENGE IS SWEET

DIS-A AND DAT-A

The golf rules are so involved that USGA Prexy Harold Pierce had to have Secretary Joe Dey along on the Bud Ward-Pat Abbott National Amateur final last week at Omaha to iron out any sticker that might have come up. . . . When Chalky Wright tries to lift Champ Joey Archibald's title next Thursday in Washington, it'll only be the fourth time in his life he has met an honest-to-gosh featherweight. . . . The guys have been so scared of him, he's had to go against the leightweights and welterweights for action. . . . And you can sue Hank Ladd, the movie comic, for saying that in the fight game, one man's mitt is another man's poison. . . . Don't shoot, we'll go quietly. . . . Jimmy Conzelman wants to trade in his pro coaching job for an army captainey if and when we go to war. . . . How about those Great Lakes navy days, Jimmy? . . . What two W. K. mid-west footballers got into a drunken driving jam t'other night coming back from a northwest vacation?

PUN MY WORD

When Joe Ungerer, the Fordham tackle, came out of the all-star lineup in the game with the Giants the other night, one fan wanted to know if the stars' defense wasn't strictly from Ungerer. . . . Whoa, there, Nellie.

HIT-AND-RUN

Clemson tub-thumpers advise you not to jump at conclusions just because blocking back Craig, tailback Butler and tackle Wood are all first-named Marion. . . . They are known around the campus as Hawk, Butch and Footsie. . . . Snappiest card to hit this desk in y'ars was the one announcing the arrival of a new sports writer in Grand Rapids (Mich.) Sports Ed Heinie Martin's bailiwick. . . . It's a neat job billed as the 1941 world series statistics, with Lead-off Man-Richard Lane Martin, batting average—seven pounds, and score—one hit, one run, no errors. Congrats, pal. . . . There's been lotsa talk that Gerry Priddy, who started out as a second sacker, will be given a whirl on first by the Yanks. . . . But the real lowdown is that he's being groomed to take a crack at third if Red Rolfe looks bad again in '42. . . . Kiyoshi Nankama, the latest Hawaiian swim sensation—he won two A. A. U. champs this year—is headed for Ohio State. . . . What with Joe Louis and Tony Zale both arriving today, this village is no place for an amateur to go around sticking his chin out this morning.

TICKETS FOR TECH GRID GAMES ON SALE MONDAY

RUSTON, La., Sept. 5.—(Special)—Athletic Director Joe Aillet said that Louisiana Tech season tickets for four varsity football games and two freshman contests will be placed on sale at the Vogue Clothing store Monday morning, with George (Blue) Hogg in charge of the sales.

The season tickets for reserved seats in the grand stand will sell for $5. Box seats will be $6.

The four home varsity games include contests with Mississippi Southern, October 3, night; Southwestern Louisiana institute, October 31, night; Hardin-Simmons, November 15, afternoon, and Centenary, November 27, afternoon.

This is said to be the first time in several years for the game with Centenary, traditional Tech rival, to be included in the season tickets.

Included in the season ticket offer will be admission to a Tech freshman game with Magnolia A. and M. college and a freshman game with a high school team yet to be announced, Coach Aillet said.

NATIONAL AMATEUR NET MEET DELAYED BY RAIN

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—(AP)—The sixth day's program of the National Singles tennis championships was washed out Thursday by a steady rain that showed no signs of diminishing during the afternoon.

As a result, the entire tournament was set forward one day, with quarter-final matches both in the men's and women's divisions to be completed Saturday and the finals set for Sunday.

Business Today

By Paul Gesner And John Beckley

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—(News-Star special news service)—Don't be surprised if four-door models occupy an even more prominent position in auto sales totals during the coming year than in past seasons.

All signs point to a deluxe four-door year.

Reason: Demand for new automobiles, because of the coming 25 to 60 per cent reduction in output to save materials for defense, will exceed supply. Sales agency men generally agree on that.

Hence, to be ordered in larger numbers, retailing circles say, will be the highly popular four-doors, replete with deluxe equipment, and possibly, extras like fog lights and radios.

The deluxe four-doors fitted with extra equipment and selling $50 to $200 above two-door cars, dealers reason, will increase gross sales, agency profits and give the seller a larger dollar figure in which to calculate value of used cars in trade-ins.

It will prove a partial offset to smaller unit sales.

Of the 3,692,000 new passenger cars sold in the United States in 1940, a total of 1,545,100 or about 42 per cent were four-door sedans, compared with 1,249,329 four-doors in 1939.

Two-door sedan sales in 1940 were 1,308,110, compared with 1,066,399 in 1939.

No new touring cars were sold in 1940, compared with 459 in 1939, according to Automobile Manufacturers association statistics.

Only 38 roadsters were sold in 1940, compared with 296 in 1939.

Convertibles—both coupes and sedans—represented less than three per cent of total passenger car sales last year, against slightly more than two per cent in 1939.

A sales representative for one of the big three auto companies said here today that dealers generally would try to meet needs of old customers. For old "Doc" Brown, who traditionally has driven a business coupe, a new coupe will be ordered if "Doc" wants it. And the big sellers will provide flocks of standard models, bare of extra equipment, for the big fleet buyers.

For the man who wants to step into a salesroom and buy a car on the spot, however, it may be that a deluxe four-door will be the only one quickly available.

There are only a few new automobiles remaining in salesrooms generally today—left-overs from the 1941 model season. But the new 1942s will be along in volume in another month or so.

An indication of the coming tightness stemming from expected demand for the 1942s is seen in the fact that trade-in allowances in purchases of new cars have narrowed sharply and are now only nominally above allowances offered in the trade-in of used car against used car.

RECREATION FOR YOUTH IS URGED

Directed Play Required, Miss Wossman Tells Rotary Club Members

The Monroe Rotary club devoted its luncheon hour at Hotel Virginia Thursday to the youth service committee of which Paul Neal is chairman. He introduced Miss Julia Wossman, local school principal, who gave an interesting talk on "Youth and Training in Recreation."

She said that the general attitude has changed concerning recreation. Formerly play was called a waste of time by many adults. Now it is regarded as a necessity. But there must be a system employed, there must be a trained staff to insure a proper use of spare time, she said.

With more time available from work, with hours made less for work, the extra time thus allowed will prove harmful unless it is put to proper advantage, she assured.

Those not taught to avail themselves of suitable recreation have lost something out of their lives, she said, and that something concerns the American way of life, she stated.

Miss Wossman traced the progress of recreational activities in public schools. Art, handicraft and other essentials are paid attention to along with the playing of games.

The national government and state administrations have devoted much time recently to the cause of directed recreation, she said, and rightly so.

In closing she pointed out some of the salient features of the Monroe Recreation department. The Garden club, the Little Theater group and others have been formed through the direction of the recreation movement and when once started are left to continue under their own impetus.

Guests of the hour were Lieutenant-Colonel Warren H. Aldrich, 129th infantry, 33rd division; Captain Walter T. Meseck and Dr. Landry of Columbia.

The birthday of Rotarian Elmer Slagle was remembered with a buttoniere in accordance with the custom observed for members of the club on their natal day.

EARLIER SCHOOL OPENING POSSIBLE

While October 6 has been officially set as the time for re-opening of public schools here, it is stated that an earlier opening may be possible if army maneuvers are completed in this area before that date.

Paul Neal, principal of Neville High school, who has just returned from attending a boys' camp at Kerrville, Tex., where he served as councillor, stated Friday that he hoped it might be possible to open schools by September 22.

On Monday he will start registration of newcomers to the city who will enter Neville High this fall, and also all from the city grammar schools now entering high school, are to register. Where high school students, who attended Neville last year, are now planning changes in their courses, they will be required to confer with Mr. Neal as to their future studies.

PROFESSOR KILLED NEAR BATON ROUGE

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 5—(AP)—Dr. Newman F. Baker, 43, Northwestern university law professor and outstanding authority on criminal law, was killed today in an automobile accident 35 miles southeast of here en route to New Orleans.

The automobile in which Dr. Baker and Dale E. Bennett, assistant Louisiana State university law professor, were riding collided head-on with a truck loaded with scrap iron. Bennett's injuries were undetermined immediately.

The two men were en route to New Orleans to attend a meeting of the advisory committee of the Louisiana State law institute which is writing a proposed criminal code.

Dr. Baker, whose home was at Wilmette, Ill., was recently appointed to the advisory committee on new rules in criminal procedure for the United States supreme court and was managing director of the Journal of Criminal Law and Criminology. He had been visiting here two days.

Men plow with sticks pointed with iron in Iran.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Stocks mixed; aircrafts develop strength. Bonds irregular; selected issues advance. Foreign exchange narrow; British pound up, Canadian unit off. Cotton higher; trade buying. Sugar higher; Cuban and trade demand. Metals quiet; tight scrap situation prevails. Wool tops firm; trade and commission house buying.

CHICAGO—Wheat higher; producer holding; war-time psychology. Corn higher; industrial demand; follows other grains. Cattle fully steady; steady dressed beef demand. Hogs steady to 10 higher; top $12.10; moderate receipts.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Buyers got aboard aircrafts and assorted specialties in today's stock market but many leaders in other departments failed to attract paying passengers.

In the share division several relatively lively intervals put the day's volume at around 600,000 shares.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—(AP)—A few stocks had wind-filled sails in today's market regatta but many leaders appeared to be muscle-bound.

The list displayed considerable hesitancy at the start and, with dealings negligible, mild irregularity was the rule near the fourth hour. Aviations enjoyed a belated bulge.

Bonds and commodities were as uneven as stocks.

RUSSIAN DEATH TRAP DESCRIBED

Dead And Debris Declared Piled High For Five Miles

By Paul Sjoblom
Finnish Journalist

WITH FINNISH TROOPS ON THE KARELIAN ISTHMUS, Sept. 5.—(AP)—For more than five miles along the road south from Viipuri toward Leningrad lie the dead and debris of what Finnish officers say were three Soviet divisions and auxiliary detachments.

Thousands of Russian corpses, piles of battle-made debris and shell-erupted earth mark the death traps Finnish forces threw about Soviet fighting men retreating from Viipuri.

Possibly 45,000 Russians were caught in successive Finnish encirclements and only 10,000 still are alive, Finnish officers said.

Many of the 10,000 are wounded. The others have been put to work burying their fallen comrades or filling shell holes.

The prize on the prisoners' list is given as Major-General Kirpitsnikow, commander of the Red army 43rd division which won the coveted award of the Red banner for its work in the 1939-40 war with the Finns. The 43rd and the 115th Soviet divisions were smashed in two days of fighting, the Finns said.

Along the road to Leningrad are crippled and burned-out tanks, guns, tractors, trucks, wagons, rifles, hand grenades and all the equipment a modern army needs.

With other correspondent-guests of the Finnish high command, I was conducted over the battle area by officers who said the prisoners were demoralized and gave no trouble.

Gangs of Russians, supervised by guards with bayoneted rifles, sweating under a broiling sun as they dug graves, filled holes or resurfaced the road.

Guides smiled at the amazement registered at the sight of some prisoners moving unmolested about piles of hand grenades.

When I asked one of the officers how they dared take the risk of a Russian deciding to toss high explosives about, he said all the fierce patriots had been killed or taken away. It was easy to spot them, the officer said, and the others knew the penalty for the slightest suspicious move.

Only a few scattered Russian units, led by commissars and officers, continued to offer resistance in woods on either side of the road. Once in a while firing could be heard in the distance.

4 DRUG FIRMS IN CONSENT DECREES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Acting Attorney General Francis Biddle announced today consent decrees under which four important American drug companies must break contracts with the German dye trust which prevented United States firms from doing business in South America.

The two decrees, based on civil action charging anti-trust law violation by restricting markets, particularly in Latin-American countries, were filed with Federal District Judge Samuel Mandelbaum in New York.

The actions named Sterling Products, Inc., Alba Pharmaceutical Company, Inc., the Bayer Company, Inc., and Winthrop Chemical Company, and Albert H. Diebold and William Weiss, president and chairman, respectively, of Sterling.

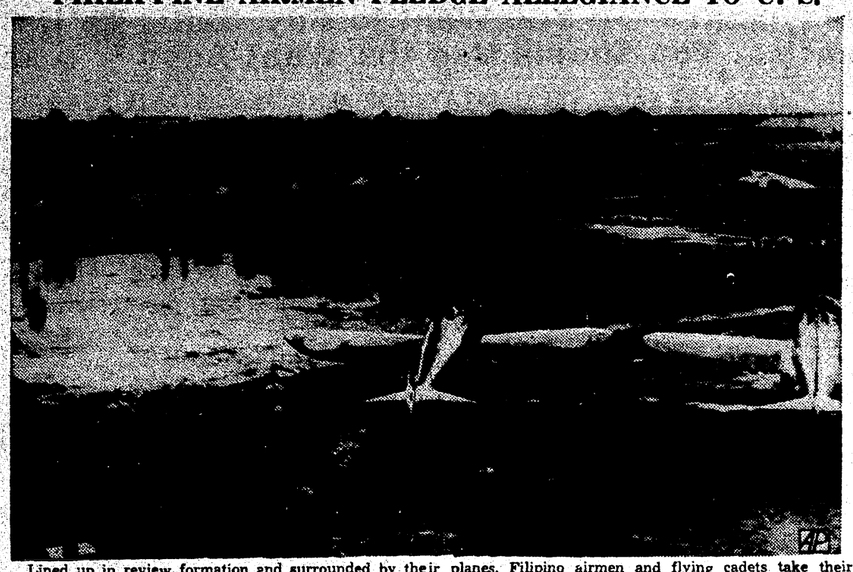
PHILIPPINE AIRMEN PLEDGE ALLEGIANCE TO U. S.



Lined up in review formation and surrounded by their planes, Filipino airmen and flying cadets take their oath of allegiance to the United States at an airport in Manila. Lieutenant-General Douglas MacArthur, acting under orders of President Roosevelt, incorporated the flying corps within the structure of the American army.

The War Today

By DeWitt MacKenzie
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer)

Confucius in his boundless wisdom doubtless would advise us to take it easy in reaching conclusions about the mystery of the submarine attack on the United States destroyer Greer.

If for the sake of argument we adopt the British idea that it was a German U-boat which fired the torpedoes, then the question immediately arises whether the action wasn't the result of a mistake.

There has been no indication that Herr Hitler wants to see America in the European war, although he might be praying that we become involved in the Orient. In fact, all the signs have been that he hopes we won't intervene in the western theater.

The point isn't that the fuehrer loves us the more but that he likes the idea of the United States navy getting into action at this critical juncture the less. His reason is that he likely will undertake major operations in the Mediterranean in the near future; he presumably will intensify his U-boat campaign in the battle of the Atlantic; and he doesn't want American warships supporting the British when the Allies invade the continent.

In short, the Nazi chief has plenty of trouble on his hands already—and so much for that. The British invasion, by the way, probably won't be tried before spring, unless unexpected developments in the Russo-Nazi war make it advisable for Britain to strike sooner. Meantime the blood-letting which the Nazis are undergoing in Russia is paving the way for the Allied assault across the English Channel.

Sanguinary fighting continues throughout the entire length of the great battle-line in Russia, but there seems to have been little change in position during the past twenty-four hours. The authoritative German commentary Dienst Aus Deutschland says the Reds apparently are carrying out extensive attacks on the central front, but belittles their effectiveness.

Dienst misses the point. The significant fact is that the Bolshevists are able to inaugurate big-scale attacks at all, after standing off such a violent assault. It is indicative of reserve power and good morale.

It is interesting to see the Germans again resorting to what the Muscovites describe as the "psychological attack"—a sort of stage-play which is calculated to confound the enemy. In the case in hand the Reds report that two companies of picked Nazi troops advanced in close formation, "preceded by a band as on parade, kettle drums rolling and bass drums thundering." Moscow says the attackers were annihilated.

The "psychological attack" cropped up more than once in the World war and I was on the grounds on one occasion when it met with notable success. During their second offensive in the spring of 1918 in France, the Germans launched a surprise attack against the British front just north of Armentiers. The sector selected was held by a division of Portuguese, and the Jerries picked it because they thought it might be vulnerable.

The Germans advanced in close formation over the crest of a hill. They were goose-stepping and, mirabile dictu, actually were preceded by the famous one-armed commander, General Karl Hoefer. The old boy, who was known as a great sportsman, wore a full dress uniform and carried a yellow cane which he waved as he led his troops, while his empty sleeve flapped madly in the breeze.

It's perhaps small wonder that the Portuguese line gave way in the face of such a fantastic demonstration, especially since the show was backed by a great force of fighting men. The Germans broke through, and the British averted disaster by the skin of their teeth.

There were other notable instances, and the Germans weren't the only ones to work these psychological tricks. There was, for instance, the famous Scots piper who regularly climbed up on the parapet of the trench at the zero hour and piped his kilted devils over the top.

The Germans were afraid of these "Ladies from Hell" at the best, and the skirl of the bagpipe, which screamed and wailed and gurgled like a lost soul, was much too much. The proud piper was a great success and undoubtedly contributed much to the victories of his contingent.

P. S. Yes, he came through the war O. K., so far as I know, though his uniform was all but shot off him many times.

Odd Items In The News

(By Associated Press)

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—Roland Mushat, private secretary to Governor Frank Dixon, has a small patch of cotton planted on the state capitol lawn to "show damnyankees what the stuff is like."

The capitol custodian, also superintendent of the miniature cotton farm, discovered boll weevils active in the 50-stalk crop.

Mushat has extended his educational activities. He has weevils on exhibit in the office to show tourists and "add to their education."

ALEXANDRIA, La.—Eight Tampa, Fla., soldiers, unaware that tung tree nuts are poisonous, sampled some they found growing in a city park here and wound up in the hospital. After stomach pumps were brought into use the men were pronounced out of danger. The nuts produce an oil for making paints and varnishes.

NOISE ABATEMENT

NEW BRITAIN, Conn.—George Nucholas, Jr., aged 18 months, was having a good time blowing the horn on daddy's automobile. Neighbor Raymond Hart, a policeman on night duty, was trying to sleep—and not having a very good time.

He and George, Sr., came out at the same time to see about the noise. There followed an argument and the arrest of George, Sr., on a breach-of-the-peace charge. But Judge Elias T. Ringrose said horn-blowing was a habit with children, and dismissed the complaint. The judge is the father of six.

BEE IN HER BLOUSE

INDIANOLA, Miss.—The curbstone sitters club adjourned in extreme haste when members saw an automobile headed for them, the driver pawing frantically at her bosom. The car caromed off the corner building, and pretty soon returned.

"Sorry, boys," the pretty driver said unabashed, "A bee got into my blouse, and stung me."

NOT ETIQUETTE

PHILADELPHIA — Douglas Miller will demand an introduction hereafter for all new friends.

He struck up an acquaintance with a personable young man in a restaurant and as they strolled together along a street, chatting amiably, the personable young man suddenly punched him in the face, took his wallet with $50, yanked off a $100 diamond ring and fled.

HOY BOY!

SPOKANE, Wash.—Patrons of Jim Hoy's restaurant changed their sympathy to congratulations when they learned why his eating house had been closed two days.

Cooks were busy inside preparing a 24-course dinner for Spokane's 200 Chinese, invited to celebrate the arrival of a little Hoy boy.

EVERY RED CENT

SPRINGFIELD, Mo.—Mayme Ploger smears lipstick on the nickels when she plays the music box in her cafe. That's so the music man will know the jitneys were on the house. Mayme calls them business stimulators.

And that's why officers arrested two fellows for spending pink nickels. The cafe was robbed recently of $40.

A carnival which toured England in the middle of the 18th century exhibited a man eight feet tall who could snap six-inch posts across one knee.

LIVESTOCK MART HAS BIG SALES

Business Will Total Half Million Dollars; Best Stock Offered

The Livestock market at Delhi started humbly three years ago, has developed from sales that ran from $750 to $1,000 the first year to more than a half million dollars, which is the outlook for the present year. Sales are held each Wednesday afternoon and throngs of farmers look to this source to sell and purchase farm animals. They come from all parts of north Louisiana and from Mississippi and Arkansas.

Horses, mules, cattle, hogs, goats, sheep and other farm animals are brought to market and sold at good prices.

When the market was established, the early stock brought in was largely scrub and poor stock generally. Now 50 per cent of the cattle sold are of better type. The market has won an enviable record for supplying the best stock, particularly in the line of hogs.

Each week shipments of high grade hogs are made to Illinois, Kansas, Missouri and Fort Worth. Also there are suppled 300 head for a serum plant in South Dakota. This shipment is made each week. In all 1,000 to 1,500 hogs are handled weekly.

Since the market was established, a total of 200 registered bulls have been placed in north Louisiana.

The stock brought in is not just traded but purchases are made by farmers who are determined to obtain the best possible stock for future breeding purposes. The management of the market is proud of its reputation as a market and not that of simply a trading post.

HENDERSON FAVORS PIPE-LINE BUILDING

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Heavy construction of pipe lines to carry petroleum products to the east was advocated today by Leon Henderson, as the seaboard states looked to rail transportation for a quick, if temporary, solution of their oil and gasoline problems.

"You can't sink a pipe line," said the chief of price administration in testifying before a senate committee that if this country ever should be attacked, pipe lines would be "hole cards" backing up the customary transportation by tankers.

The hope that the eastern emergency might soon be alleviated was based on a pledge by oil industry representatives last night to use every available tank car at once to move oil from the west. Spokesmen for the railroads said this could eliminate oil shortages within two weeks.

J. J. Pelley, president of the association of American railroads, told a senate committee Wednesday that the oil shortage could be ended within two weeks by utilizing all available tank cars. He said there now were 20,000 idle rail tankers capable of moving 200,000 barrels of oil to the east daily. The daily shortage is estimated by government officials at 174,000 barrels.

No official statement was issued immediately on the rate reduction agreement, but reliable reports said it embraced a flat 25 per cent rate cut on gasoline and all fuel oils, and reductions ranging up to 50 per cent on crude oil, for west-to-east shipments.

DEATHS

SYLVIA JEAN SMITH RITES

The funeral of Sylvia Jean Smith, aged two years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Smith, of route 4, West Monroe, was held at Mount Vernon church, Friday at 2 p.m. with Rev. J. T. Hinke officiating. Interment was in Mount Vernon cemetery.

Pallbearers were Vasial Wagner, David May, Gervis Sandifer and W. C. Meredith. The Dixie Funeral home was in charge of arrangements.

Surviving are the parents, her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Smith of West Monroe; and her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wagner, also of West Monroe.

B. M. I.
JOE CARPENTER, GRADUATE

Mr. Carpenter is certainly to be commended on his splendid work and his most energetic manner in obtaining a business course at B. M. I., which has made for him many friends.

Mr. Carpenter graduated from the Winnsboro High School in 1938 and entered B. M. I. for a complete General Business course August 30, 1938. On November 1, 1939, he accepted a job as accountant with the Gulf Refining Company, Distributor, here in Monroe where he is still employed.

Mr. Carpenter says: "Work in the modern business world of today has reached a high standard. All employes know that if their work is not exactly right, it won't pass the inspection of a business executive or employer. If you can't work and successfully compete with the best-trained business employes of today, you have no place in their field of work.

"Of course when better work is required, better training is also required. This is where B. M. I. fits in. It has something that few other business colleges have: carefully planned courses, an unusually friendly personnel and some of the best equipment. B. M. I. is the result of good cooperation and untiring efforts and, I believe, the best place to get a BETTER business education."

Fall term opens Monday, Sept. 8th. Write, wire or phone us for further information. Bernhardt Bldg., Phone 1706.
